Tentative Approval Court Budget Gets

$97806 Sought For Operations

Control Unit Gives OK; Now Up To Area Officials

ROMULUS--A proposed operating budget of $97,806 for operation of the 34th District Court during the 1969 fiscal year met with approval by representatives of five communities served by the newly created court.

The action by community representatives must be approved by their respective council and township boards.

The proposed budget was submitted by Judge Richard Dunn of Dearborn Heights, who has been assigned to the 34th District Court pending the appointment by Governor William Milliken of a successor to Judge Francis Duane Ross, who resigned from the court shortly after its opening on Jan. 2.

Discussion on the budget was held at the Van Buren Township Hall, 48425 Tyler Road March 27, where the District Court is temporarily headquartered with members of the court's Control Unit made up of representatives from the five areas served by the court. Judge Dunn called the meeting.

THESE AREAS are Belleville, Huron, Romulus, Sumpter and Van Buren Townships.

The Control Unit for the court is located in Romulus where under the statutes setting up the court, the District is to be permanently based.

The Old Hale School in Romulus is currently under a remodeling and renovation program. This school building will be the new site of the 34th District Court.

Romulus' new Municipal Building to be built on the southeast corner of Wayne and Goddard Roads will house the new court when it is completed in about 18 months hence, Alfred J. Perry township clerk and Romulus' representative on the Court Control Unit, reported.

THE COURT'S proposed budget calls for $75,085 in wages and salaries; $11,200 in miscellaneous services; and $11,511 in capital outlay, which includes office supplies, furniture and equipment, library expense.

The budget provides for the payment of $9,500 in salary to the court judge thus bringing his annual salary to $22,500, of which $18,000 is paid by the state.

The proportionate share of the served communities is as follows:

Belleville, $4,890; Huron, $16,627; Romulus, $37,166; Sumpter, $14,670; and Van Buren, $24,451.

A new and highly attractive publishing feature has been added to the columns of the Belleville Enterprise and Romulus Roman, weekly newspapers of the Associated Newspapers Inc. Publishers of the Associated Newspapers-Panax Corporation headquartered in East Lansing, announced that four-color process is now available to community businesses that desire to make use of its advertising merit and drawing power. Four-color process, used by some of the nation's publications, make available the use of a variety of colors in advertising as well as general news picture coverage. In today's editions of the Belleville Enterprise and Romulus Roman is an initial showing of four-color process in both a general news photo and advertisement--of Foodville Supermarket Store. We hope that you share our enthusiasm.

DON'T BLAME THEM!—Associated Newspaper carrier Ricky Barns and mailman Robert Zimmerman were shocked at the idea some loyal ANP subscriber might have blamed them for late delivery recently. They're always on the ball. If your paper has been late the last few weeks, blame it on ANP. And read the story below to find out why.

A Better Paper Coming Your Way

Progress at the Associated Newspapers has been trying the patience of some of our readers these days. Some subscribers have been receiving late delivery of their paper, either from the mailman or the carrier boy.

Don't blame them. It's all our fault.

Since the Associated Newspapers were purchased by the Lansing-based Panax Corporation at the start of this year, several changes have been made that are designed to provide you with an improved product.

We have, for example, installed several thousand dollars worth of new IBM equipment in our composition shop in Wayne, Wayco Graphics.

We have also taken on the added responsibility of composing the Belleville Enterprise and the Romulus Roman at Wayco Graphics. And all our papers -- which also includes the Wayne Eagle, Westland Eagle, Inkster Ledger-Star and Garden City Guardian-Review -- are now being printed at Inco Graphics, a modern Panax facility in Mason, Mich.

"Bugs" in the new equipment, other production problems and larger papers than normal for this time of year have, at times, meant missed deadlines. That is why on some occasions recently your local Post Office and our carrier boys have been late in receiving their papers. And that is why they may have been late in getting your paper to you.

We're improving each week, however, and we ask that you bear with us during this transition period. You'll benefit with a bigger paper, a more attractive paper and a paper that's easier to read.

It's 697-9191

The Belleville Enterprise and Romulus Roman have a new telephone number.

Beginning tomorrow, April 3, our new telephone number will be 697-9191.

Romulus Students Hear Yemen on Citizenship

ROMULUS—Arpo Yemen, Dearborn Heights attorney and recently appointed by former Governor George Romney to a post on the Workmen's Compensation Appeal Board, spoke before the combined history classes of Romulus High School Wednesday, March 26.

The subject of Yemen's address was "The Making of an American Citizen".

A former candidate for Congress, Yemen came to Detroit in 1950 a refugee of religious and political persecutions in several European countries. He obtained degrees in civil engineering and Juris Doctor from Wayne State University and has practiced law since 1964.

"By accepting invitations from junior and senior high schools to speak, I feel I am repaying a debt of gratitude to my adopted Country for judging me by my performance as an individual rather than my national, racial or religious background," Yemen stated.

"I challenge any history expert to name one country, form of government or nation in the history of mankind which so carefully protects the rights of minorities as does the United States of America," he continued.

In concluding his remarks, Yemen urged all the students to ignore those who would destroy the only hope in this world for freedom and individual rights - the American form of government-and to dedicate themselves to pursuing their education, thereby giving the students unlimited opportunities to succeed. Citing the proven concepts of patriotism, discipline and hard work Yemen said, "If I could rise from the job as elevator operator to an appointee of the Governor and a candidate to the Congress of the United States at the age of 28, then you boys and girls have no excuse not to run for President because you were lucky enough to be born in this great country!"

Bill Closes Loophole In Property Tax Law

ROMULUS—Public lands used for non-public uses would lose freedom from taxes under House Bill No. 2886, introduced by State Representative Edward E. Mahalak, D-Romulus.

The loss of tax exemptions would apply to public land leased to anyone who uses it for a profit-making venture. The Bill would amend the State's general property tax act.

"This Bill," Mahalak said, "would close a loophole in the property tax law. 'Lands put to public use should, naturally, be exempt from taxes. There are, however, many instances when this property is put to non-public uses, as well as occasions when it is leased, often to persons who use it for commercial ventures. There are any number of such cases. When the public loses the right to free uses of its own land there should be no tax exemptions for that land.'"

It was further pointed out of a number of cases whereby homes have been rented vacant lands leased for farming, etc., all while local units of government were losing taxes due to the fact that these properties were owned by the State.

"This Bill would have far-ranging affect," Mahalak said. "It would close a loophole which has resulted in tax losses to many local units of government."

Citizens District Council Views UR Scale Model

ROMULUS—The Wayne-Beverly Citizens' District Council got a look at the scale model demonstrating how the area will look when completely redeveloped on March 25.

Warren Reynolds of Parkins, Rogers & Associates and George Wilhelm, Urban Renewal Director, gave the schedule of the work to be done in each section of Project 1.

It was explained that some of the land in the area bounded by Van Born, Cincinnati, Howe, and Fourth Street, in addition to that in the right-of-way of the realignment of the Boice Drain, is set for acquisition in September.

Substandard houses now occupied by renters will be included in this first acquisition as well.

The Urban Renewal Staff is working with families to be displaced so that those now renting, and if eligible, will be relocated into Public Housing.

Plans are being made to have homes available to purchase for homeowners to be displaced and others not eligible for Public Houses.

Reynolds informed the Council that the Urban Renewal Department is working on the application for going into a Neighborhood Development Program (NDP).

If the application is approved, planning can get started for the total General Neighborhood Renewal Area, rather than wait until the first project area is completed.

Wilhelm said the models will be on display at the Township Office for the Annual Meeting April 5th. After that it will be available for viewing at the Urban Renewal Office.

YPSILANTI—The Annual Southeast Michigan Beekeeper Seminar will be held Saturday, April 12, in the U.A.W. Hall, Textile Road, starting at 8:30 a.m.

This annual all-day beekeeper forum, arranged by the Cooperative Extension Service and with the assistance of the Southeastern Michigan Beekeepers Association, brings together a program of educational events including movies, speeches, demonstrations and other timely topics, using resource people from many areas of Michigan and other states.

A "SWAP BOARD" will list items for sale or trade.

Contacts with the nearly 200 apiarists who attend, and general exchange of information is available at almost no other event like this. Edgar C. Kidd, Extension Agricultural Agent, said.

Lenten Season

Editor's Note: The following is the last in a series of Lenten Sermons by area pastors and leading churchmen. This week's article was submitted by Rev. Wilson Wood, pastor of the Belleville United Presbyterian Church.)

To say "Christ died for our sins" is like trying to put a ton in a teaspoon.

It's like a ton in a teaspoon because it can be said so quickly and at times so thoughtlessly. It took the Warren Commission months of study and interviews, and thousands of pages before it would speak concerning the assassination of President Kennedy.

The murder of Dr. Martin Luther King and Senator Robert Kennedy are many words and perhaps many years away from any satisfactory summary of their significance. Yet the Christian rattles off his little sentence of five words as though he had captured all the mystery, majesty and meaning of our Lord's great sacrifice.

"Christ died for our sins" You can say it without blinking an eye, without taking a breath—sometimes without even thinking. There ought to be a thirty minute pause each time the words are spoken. Let them sink in. And even then they should leave heads dizzy with the disturbing thoughts they provoke.

IT'S LIKE a ton in a teaspoon because the sins of humanity are spread over thousands of years of generations of men and nations: here and there, day and night, known and unknown, yesterday, today and tomorrow. You put them all together, and you load them all on one man among the innumerable numbers of men in one moment among all the moments of history.

How can we even begin to come to grips with all of this with that little five word sentence?

The ton in the teaspoon is too much for our logic, and it's too much for our imagination. Yet we seem to be living in a world of tons and teaspoons.

The tests we face in our time are tests of gigantic proportions and the temper with which we face them seems to have little more capacity than a teaspoon.

The doorway to sin is to run away from, to side-step or the pretend life's tests aren't there.

There is nothing that we face that is any more frightening than the test of the man who died on Calvary. He faced it with what he had, and so must we.

Dog Alert Issued in Romulus

ROMULUS—Residents of Romulus Township are being alerted by township officials this week to be on the lookout for dogs when preparing garbage and rubbish for weekly pickups by the township's rubbish collection contractor.

Alfred J. Perry, township clerk, disclosed that Gerald Canejo, operator of Canejo & Son Trucking Company, garbage and rubbish contractor, has complained that dogs running at large have broken open and in some instances destroyed plastic filled bags put out by residents for collection. Strewed about rubbish will not be picked up, Canejo stated.

Refuse and other debris have been scattered about by the dogs delaying orderly collections he added.

Residents are urged to be on the lookout for dogs when their rubbish awaits pickup. Home owners are also asked to notify the township Dog Pound when unleashed dogs are seen running at large.

Commission Hears Police Chief

ROMULUS—Garrison Clayton, Westland Chief of Police, was the guest speaker at last Wednesday's meeting (March 26) of the Romulus Charter Commission.

He spoke in place of officials from Dearborn Heights who were busy electioneering for public office.

Clayton felt that residency should not be a proviso for employment in one's community. Westland requires that a person so employed must move into the community within a year.

Clayton said he thought that a city should adopt something else for its police department other than Act 78. He says it handicaps administration unmercifully. Civil Service without Act 78 is the ideal plan, according to Clayton.

Promotion in Westland, either for patrolmen or plain-clothesmen, is up the line of seniority. Westland, too, like Dearborn, then combines seniority with an oral test as a means for promotion. Much of what the speaker had to say was like that heard before from other speakers.

Tomight (Wednesday) April 2, the Romulus Charter Commission will have primarily a working meeting, concentrating on the Citizens' Survey Questionnaire. There are no speakers invited.

Tax Reform Crisis Hard by the Door

We can argue forever that the current state of affairs in assessment of Westland residential property is misguided and patently unfair.

Certainly, there are a great number of instances that can be cited showing that Westland property is being taxed at a higher rate than many other communities in Michigan.

However, as must have become apparent to anyone who is really thinking about this matter, and not just yelling, the movement that was begun by Westland housewives is being led right onto the paths so many of us have walked before.

The paths lead to Lansing and they end with still more pleas to the State Legislature to enact tax reform--particularly for education--in this state.

The simple fact is, the system of property taxation in Michigan simply cannot fairly bear the cost of educating the youngsters of this state. The property tax system is inequitable as among neighbors, as among the school districts of the state, and as among regions of Michigan.

The equalization of property according to what it is worth on the market is basically a sound idea for adjusting property tax rates--although the equalization system has many chinks in its armor. The problem, therefore, is not equalization. It is that communities like Westland must pay so dearly for every school day we educate our children. If Westlanders, in the majority, were not paying around 44 mills in school taxes every year, equalization wouldn't seem nearly so oppressive.

Similarly, the state aid to education formula that works against us when assessments are increased simply must be changed. And here we are, right back asking for some kind of reform of the way we pay our taxes and finance our schools.

Schools all over the state are going broke. The non-public schools are on the ropes, but how can we finance them when the public schools are in such dire need? One thing is certain, Westlanders aren't going to be able to pay much more, and somebody else will.

Citizens of Westland must realize now that it is reform of the taxation structure in Michigan that offers hope for our situation. If we oppose tax reform on ideological grounds--if we oppose more income tax or lumping of all property tax base across the state into one big pot--then we will have to bear up in the present troubles.

So now we have been calling for reform of the tax structure for almost five years. We sense a crisis brewing. The property tax trolley has reached the end of its line.

Industrialist Glennie An Excellent Choice

Sizing up the appointment made recently by the Wayne City Council for the seat vacated with the resignation of William Stottlemeyer convinces us the Council made a wise and solid choice in James E. Glennie, area industrialist and active citizen in community affairs.

Considering the many worthy candidates they had to select from, the Council's ultimate decision could not have been an easy one, as is evidenced by their early deadlock on nominations.

Recommendations can be said to have lent strong support to any number of the candidates who were under consideration from the Council vacancy. And with the candidates all exhibiting such high and worthy qualifications, we think the Council's decision for Glennie provided some of the best possible balance and strength where needed on the governing body.

Effecting balance or good representative membership on the Council was evidently one of the prime considerations taken into account by the active members which won Glennie his appointment.

With business and professional interests as well as the needs of the citizens, themselves, the elements to be dealt with by the Council, each of these interests should find representation around the Council table. The decisions made by the Council range over all of these interest areas and ideally should have the benefit of knowledgeable and experienced counselling prior to a final vote.

However difficult it may be to at all times have "experts" around the Council table to help in the decision-making on a particular item, a broad-based representation balancing the major interest areas is, we think, a fair and justifiable criterion for determining membership on the Council.

Only the voters when they go to the polls can dispute the premise that balance should be strived for and it is up to them to decide otherwise. In making an appointment, we feel the Council has to consider the factors relating to good representative government as in the best interests of the public.

What Glennie adds to the Council can be the invaluable experience he has had as an industrialist, since in the months ahead Wayne will be moving forward on some vital decisions in this very field.

Approaching rapidly towards a point where Council action will again be necessary, in just one instance, is the proposed industrial park area for what is now the Louis Savage-Garfield Park Subdivision.

Ready today for development with already the first building permits issued for new construction is the City's Metro Industrial Park Subdivision. This area at Van Born and Cogswell Road is expected to add considerable new tax base to the community as it is developed.

Decisions on the industrial matters which will come before the Council in the months ahead we feel will have sound and practical deliberation with the help of this experienced and well-qualified man. Glennie's choice as a Councilman at this period of Wayne's growth is an excellent one.

REFLECTIONS

A Prince of a Principal

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

The annual spring snow had fallen and I was down in the basement standing on my head in a box, trying to find the boots which weren't when the telephone rang.

My caller wanted to tell me she thought my last column was pretty funny, but if I had a minute she thought she should tell me something.

Brushing the cobwebs off my forehead, and giving frantic sign languages to the kids to turn off the perking-over coffee, I assured my caller I had a minute. . . even though I didn't know where it was.

"Well," she said brightly, "I want you to know I really did like your last column, but that you hurt Mr. Principal terribly."

"Oh m'gosh," I gasped, and quit looking at the coffee merrily spouting all over the stove. "How could I have done that?"

"You know what you said, don't you?"

"No," I answered. "I haven't read it, I only write them."

"You made him sound like a big brute, that's all," she said. "And everyone knows he's not THAT!"

"Oh heavens," I gasped, "he certainly isn't THAT!"

My caller hung up, I shoved food down my kids, made my little girl wear her big brother's boots, because big brother doesn't wear boots anymore. . . he's immune to snow. . . and shoved them all out the door. And then I sat down and fought with my conscience.

I felt dreadful. I would never hurt anyone intentionally, and after I had hit myself with a razor-strap 25 times, I wrote on a piece of paper 100 times, "Be careful whose leg you pull in public print," and then I went to the telephone and called him.

"I hear I hurt you last week with my column," I said most diplomatically.

His voice sounded very normal as he answered.

"What gave you that idea?" he answered. "I thought it was pretty funny."

"You did? Someone told me you were hurt because it made you sound like a brute."

"It does?" he asked.

"Oh, I don't think it does," I answered hurriedly.

"Well, maybe it does, a little bit," he conceded. "You know how it is," he continued. "There's always been sort of a thing about Education people. . . that we're a stuffy lot."

"Oh I know," I answered. "And I don't want to hurt you at all, so I'll write about it next week, and tell everyone you are not a brute, but a real swinger."

"Oh, please," he said. "Why don't you just leave it alone. . . I like my job."

"Maybe I could tell them how handsome you are. Everyone knows handsome people can't be prudish."

"Oh, please. . . ." he groaned.

"Well, I just can't leave you hanging as a brute. . . besides I want my kids to pass." I told him and hung up. That's the easiest way to terminate a call.

And then I got to thinking about Mr. Principal. He's been the principal at the school where my kids go for quite some time, and the kids adore him.

Now, I don't really know whether he's a swinger or not, so I can't project that image of him to you, but there is something I do know. . . and that is what I'm going to tell you about.

A few years ago I had occasion to be sitting in his office, when a very little girl was sent in because she had a mighty dirty face, and her hair looked as if it were something's nest.

I don't think we have any deprived youngsters at the school, but this little girl had a very ill mother and things were going a bit rough at her home.

Mr. Principal put her on his lap, and he brushed the long-matted hair from her face, and he cupped her chin in his hands and smiled into her eyes.

He told her what a pretty little girl she was, and how he loved pretty little girls and that every morning when he came to school his day was made happy by the CLEAN pretty faces of the little ones. And he asked her if she wouldn't like to run in and wash her face very, very clean?

From his drawer he took a brand new comb and asked her if she would like to have it as her very own?

The little one skipped away and in a few moments was back with face spanking clean, and hair combed as well as a little one can comb.

Mr. Principal again took her on his lap and told her how very pretty she now looked, asked her to keep the comb and use it for him every morning. And that little one looked up at him adoringly and skipped off to class. . . her psyche undamaged, but her face clean!

And any pictures my kids bring to school from now on, Mr. Principal, . . . you may keep.

Dancing at the Armory

By JIM FITZGERALD

Here's a hot one for the boys at the Alibi Bar. I've been asked to fill in for the society editor of the Port Huron Times Herald. She's taking a vacation and wants a guest column to run between the girdle ads and wedding stories.

Ordinarily, I don't have much to offer the society section of any newspaper. My peau de soie thoughts are few and soiled. But by a coincidence, I have lately been thinking about long-ago dance parties and other such fancy-pants affairs. And to complete the cliché and make the coincidence amazing, these social events occurred in Port Huron.

This fit of nostalgia grabbed me when I read they are going to tear down the Port Huron Armory. They need the space to park cars, Egad. The day is coming when the law will require people to walk sideways to cut down on the room needed between the cars. The first man on the moon will install parking meters. But that's another column. . .

In my boyhood, the Port Huron Armory was dance headquarters of the universe. They had one of those crystal balls that spun from the center of the ceiling and reflected little lights all over the place. Real class. Once in awhile a name band would be hired, but usually the music was provided by a guy who could play the piano and three of his friends who couldn't play the radio without help.

What I remember most about the Armory dances is that they were usually sponsored by the LRT and the girls asked the boys. LRT was not an hallucinatory drug. It was some sort of a Greek sorority which flourished in the public high school.

In fact, the LRT is probably still there, numbering among its members the daughters of many of the girls who used to berate their dates for writing my name on their dance cards.

I knew one dance step -- the box. I still do it today. Forward, sideways, backward, sideways, forward, do it again, do it again, hot diggity. This is pretty snappy for a few minutes but it gets a little wearisome after a few hours (and a few years, my wife would add if I let her stick her nose in this column).

I remember one steady date who insisted we break the monotony by walking. That was a 1940 dance step where the couples simply walked along the edge of the floor, hanging onto each other loosely. To distinguish it from an ordinary walk to the john, or to the parking lot to neck, you were supposed to take a half step backward every so often. The trouble was, I could never learn when every so often was. I kept heading north while she was going south. She finally decided that was a good arrangement and I haven't seen her since.

A guy got dressed up for a dance in those days. I can even remember pressing my own pants. The girls wore long, crinkly dresses with necklines that teased, not shocked. Every school orchestra copied Glenn Miller or Tommy Dorsey and, with the right head snuggling on your shoulder, that's how they sounded.

For most of the dancing boys, a war was waiting.

Come to think, war is what armories are all about.

I will dance the fanciest box you ever saw on the day they can tear them all down.

NEWS ANGLES

Defense Spending Senseless

By DICK MCKNIGHT

I read a little piece in the U.S. News and World Report this week that brought my appallment with the current wave of defense-spending-mania to the point of near retching.

The article said that even if the United States gets out of Vietnam tomorrow (a pleasant thought) the defense spending we have built up won't go down for at least a few years because our military equipment is in really no shape for the future.

While Vietnam has been going on, the article read, the Navy's ships, the guns, the tanks and all the rest of the war hardware has been getting old and rusty. A lot of old barracks could use a coat of paint and some of our foreign bases are in need of expansion.

Therefore, the article concluded, it will be impossible to reduce defense spending below the $80-$100 million level per year, and the sickening problems of our domestic society will just have to lay around and rot. After all, the writer went on, the nation really can't afford to pay for everything, and it is so important to make sure all the tanks have a new coat of rustoleum.

The article was written as a kind of forewarning to all those liberals who might think the military-industrial complex in this country is going to give a single inch of its hold on American governmental spending even if they do allow us to end the war.

Now, the U.S. News and World Report is not really one of my favorite publications, but if you want to know what the military-industrial complex is thinking, or what the Nixon Administration is going to do next, read the U.S. News and World Report -- they all think just alike.

The saddest part of all of this is that there are so many people in this nation who really believe that we are spending all of this money on defense because by spending it will be defended. Who can blame them, either, since so many supposed government experts and military personages keep saying that we need to spend this money. You have to believe somebody.

When President Nixon had to make a decision on the ABM anti-missile-missile system, it seemed that he might actually be on the brink of telling the military-industrial complex to jump in the lake. But instead, Nixon slithered through the tight spot by giving the military-industrial complex enough of a foot in the door that they can kick it wide open at some future date and really start building the ABM system they are planning, not the little safeguard system which makes absolutely no sense to anyone.

The reason it makes no sense is that to those opposed to ABMs, any expenditure is silly. To those who want ABMs, the safeguard system doesn't mean anything and couldn't stop Mother Hubbard from shoplifting at the supermarket.

Basically, the military-industrial complex people -- those who depend on American defense spending for a living -- are forcing this country to come to a rather cruel kind of decision. The decision we are going to have to make, eventually, is that the nation is hardly worth defending if its internal problems continue to worsen, and we ain't seen nothing yet.

The military-industrial complex people are shortly going to find that no matter how strong their lobbies are in Washington, and no matter how much they can spread around in organs like the U.S. News and World Report, the problems of America are just going to grow and grow until they are bigger than the military-industrial complex itself.

The very same issue of the U.S. News and World Report carried an item which indicated that if air pollution continues at its current rate the North American continent will be uninhabitable in 100 years. There's a fact to scare one.

Problems like that are the kind of things America has to worry about just as much as how to blow up our enemies and how to keep from being blown up. Even if it had been proved that all the new defense spending was going to work (and it hasn't been proved), we still have a lot of other miseries to overcome.

And after all, an America that takes care of its own internal problems may indeed be the best argument in the world for other nations to adopt the essence of our democracy -- life and fulfillment for all people.

In Memoriam

For Campus Order

There is no longer any excuse-social, political, pedagogical, or theoretical-for college authorities, city officials, or the police to allow rioting, vandalism, terrorism or just plain nastiness to continue on campuses of higher learning. The time for a decisive, definitive, final crackdown on terroristic, as distinct from legitimate and constructive, protest has come. Such activities must be brought to an end. And, there is reason to believe, if college and university officials are not strong enough and wise enough to do this on their own, the public will step in and do it for them.

Happily, there are signs that the era of weak-kneedness and bootless shilly-shallying on the part of some institutions of higher learning is drawing to a close. Harvard University has had arrested five outsiders who have been arranged on charges of disrupting a classroom. And there is a gradual move towards similar action on some other campuses. But in far too many cases youthful destructionists are still being allowed to trample on the rights of the great majority of students and faculty who merely wish to get on with education.

Highly significant is the overwhelming public support for strong and decisive action on behalf of campus order. More than four out of five persons questioned by the Gallup

Poll believed that students who break laws during demonstrations should be expelled and stripped of federal education loans. And the surprising and gratifying thing is that more than seven out of every 10 persons aged 21 to 29 think the same.

This is a powerful public mandate and demand to end once and for all the lawless, destructive permissiveness which has enabled small groups, both white and black, to terrorize campuses and withhold from the majority its civil right to education. It is also a warning that there are vast numbers of Americans who might quite easily support strong outside, off-campus intervention wherever a college or university showed itself unable or unwilling to take the needed strong steps to produce lasting order. The situation must not be allowed to reach such a point.

We repeat what we have often said in the past, none of this should mean a stifling of legitimate and reasonable student protest or request. It could be a great gain for society that so many students are now concerned with the quality and the circumstances of today's higher education. Such interest should be fostered, listened to, and where reasonable, followed. It would be a tragedy if violence were to create an atmosphere where intelligent protest was no longer welcome.

EFFECTIVE JULY 1

Rising Labor Costs Bring PCHA Room Rate Boost

WAYNE--Labor costs continue to be the major factor in the increasing cost of health care.

The '69-'70 Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) budget, approved March 28 by the Board of Directors of the Authority, is up 16 per cent over last year. Of this increase 13.4 per cent is directly related to employee costs--wages, salaries and additional personnel to run PCHA and its four unit hospitals.

PCHA's new budget will total $22,558,800, or an increase of $3,106,400 over the revised '68-'69 budget. This is an increase of 16 per cent.

To meet this increase PCHA directors approved a new room service charge at its hospitals for semi-private rooms of $40 a day, effective July 1, 1969. This is a $3 increase over the present rate for such accommodations. Increases in "ancillary" services, such as operating room charges, anesthesia, and physical therapy, were also approved.

ROGER J. REMER, PCHA treasurer, presented the new budget to the directors and said that he believed that the new charges for ancillary hospital services are a "better reflection of the cost of providing these services" to PCHA patients.

"Through accurate and controlled cost analysis," Remer, "we are better able to proportion the total cost of hospital care, rather than arbitrarily raise room rates unrealistically expecting these to cover other essential services."

Even so, the new PCHA rate of $40 per day for semi-private accommodations is either in line with or below charges of comparable metropolitan hospitals, according to Remer.

A study of twelve area metropolitan hospitals reveals that one hospital is currently one dollar per day under the July 1 PCHA semi-private rate; one hospital is equal ($40); the rest are higher.

In fact, one hospital in the group is $12.90 per day higher than what PCHA will be charging for semi-private accommodations. All hospitals in the study are voluntary, non-profit community-type institutions.

IN DOLLARS and cents, according to Remer's review of the new PCHA budget, Authority hospitals experienced an average per-day increase of $6.89 between '67 and '68. This compares with an increase of $7.18 nationally; therefore, PCHA's increase is 0.7 per

Easter is Time To Pause, Think

Easter is a joyful occasion through the civilized world. All over America, the churches enjoy record attendances. While we join in the outward observance of Easter--the egg hunts, the new finery, it is well to pause and think about the spiritual reason for the celebration.

Here is how it was described in the gospel of St. Matthew:

"And the angel answered and said to the women, 'Fear not ye; for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here, for he is risen, as he said. Come see the place where the Lord lay. And go quickly and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead; and behold, he goeth before you into Galilee; there ye shall see him. Lo, I have told you.'"

Civilization has come a long way. It's a good time to count our blessings and let good deeds speak for us.

Romulus Couple To Repeat Vows In Saudi Arabia

Patricia Jean Stillwagon became the bride of Esam Mohamad Hassan Trabulsi in a candlelight service at the United Methodist Church in Romulus March 15. The Rev. Frank Leineke officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride was escorted up the aisle by her father, Mack M. Stillwagon, of 9404 Biddle, Romulus.

Miss Stillwagon wore a high-yoked floor-length gown of white slipper satin with a wedding ring collar, Chantilly lace covered the bodice, raglan sleeves, and detachable train. The sleeves and hemline were scalloped with Chantilly lace.

Her elbow-length silk illusion veil was attached to a high bishop-shaped lace-covered hat, and she carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis.

MRS. ESAM TRABULSI

Mrs. Le Nealle Johns of Ypsilanti, long-time friend of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a floor-length, high-yoked, modified A-line gown of orchid glazed linen. The gown featured a stand-up collar of Venice lace which also capped the ends of the short sleeves.

BRIDESMAID MRS. Donna Cinzori, sister of the bride, wore an identical dress in deep purple. Junior bridesmaid Kathy Mitton, nine-year-old cousin of the bride, wore a miniature version of the matron of honor's dress. All three attendants carried a single long-stemmed white rose with ribbons matching their gowns.

Serving as flower girl for the ceremony was the bride's four-year-old cousin Jennifer Mitton, whose gown was an identical miniature of the bridesmaid's. She carried a basket of white roses. Ring bearer was Aaron Cinzori, two-year-old nephew of the bride, in a tan Nehru suit and white turtleneck shirt. He carried a slipper satin pillow covered with Chantilly lace, bearing the two symbolic gold wedding bands.

Attending the groom were Usama Trabulsi, his brother, as best man; Husni Kutub; Mack Stillwagon, Jr., brother of the bride; and Faisal Hamed.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Dorothy Stillwagon, chose for her daughter's wedding a royal blue high-fitted A-line dress and matching accessories. She wore a corsage of pink rosebuds with one large red rose in the center.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Ida Stillwagon, donned a beige knit suit and was presented with a corsage of pink carnations. The bride's great-grandmother, Mrs. Nancy Pruett, was unable to attend the ceremony because of ill health.

A RECEPTION at the Colonial House in Taylor followed the ceremony. More than 100 guests enjoyed a sit-down dinner and dancing.

The wedding ceremony was the first of three for the couple. They will repeat their vows again in Lansing at a Mosque in a Moslem ceremony, and a third time in Saudi Arabia, home of the groom, for his parents and family.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Trabulsi, following a Chicago honeymoon, will reside in Holt, Michigan, where both will substitute teach and work on their master's degrees at Michigan State University. Both received their bachelor of arts degrees from MSU just a week before their wedding.

Friends and relatives of the bride and groom came from Detroit, Battle Creek, East Lansing, Grosse Ile, Rochester, New York, and the Romulus area to help celebrate the occasion.

Her attendants, all wearing full-length yellow frocks, were Jeanette Pilat, Melody Dovell, and Mickey Walig.

Flowergirls were Kelly Cassidy, cousin of the bridegroom, Tammy Dick, and Susan Crook. Pat Cunningham carried out the role of ringbearer.

Best man was Donald Pitter with John D. Cassidy, cousin of the bridegroom, and Lou Cunningham as ushers.

Following the ceremony the young couple greeted some 200 guests at a reception held in the V.F.W. Hall, Trenton. Mrs. Cunningham, the bride's mother, wore a blue velvet suit and corsage of yellow carnations. Mrs. Roebuck chose for her son's wedding a pale blue gown and corsage of tea roses.

Freet - Kollever Nuptials Read At Baptist Church

The Evangel Baptist Church, Taylor, was the setting Saturday, March 15, for the four o'clock wedding ceremony which united Patti Lynn Kollever and Sgt. E/5 Kay F. Freet in holy matrimony. Some 60 guests were assembled as the Rev. James Grier read the nuptial rite. Organ music was provided by Christine Wild.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Kollever, of 19124 Merriman road, Romulus, Patti was given in marriage by her father. For her wedding day she selected a formal gown of candlelight satin fashioned with elbow-length bell sleeves enhanced with lace and an empire waistline accented with a satin bow. The lace motif was repeated in the wide band which bordered the hemline.

An openwork crown of seed pearls secured her illusion veil which fell to mid-back length and she held a cascade of white mums and satin streamers.

MAID OF HONOR was Cheryl Crocker, of Romulus, a friend and former classmate of the bride. Her floor-length dress was in green velvet and she carried an arrangement of white mums tied with green satin ribbon.

Carla Freet, wearing a short yellow frock trimmed in lace, carried the rings on a white satin pillow for her uncle's wedding.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Freet, of Nappanee, Indiana, the bridegroom asked a friend, Michael Hollar, of Nappanee, to serve as best man. Ushers were a cousin, Tom Richards, and Dennis Smith, both of Indiana.

The Sportsmen's Hall, New Boston, was reserved for the reception which followed. The newlyweds are now making their home at Fort Sheridan, Illinois.

A reception followed at the Sky Haven Inn, at Warrensburg, Missouri, with friends and relatives from Missouri and Michigan attending.

All Around The Town

... WITH LEE

FASHION TIME

IN THE SPRING a young man's fancy might turn to thoughts of love but for the distaff side it means thoughts of a new wardrobe. And such was the case last March 25, as some 17 women from the Belleville area and their guests traveled to the Raleigh House, in Southfield, for a look at the latest styles.

Sponsored by the Lawyers Wives of Dearborn, the fashion show luncheon was attended by nearly 600 women who annually patronize the benefit event. This year's profits will aid the Joseph Scuderi Opportunity Center which helps re-locate families of the inner city into new homes.

Our local link with the Lawyers Wives, Betty Archer, again accounted for a good share of the attendance. Her ticket sales this year included Marge Lorentson who brought along seven friends from the Tri-County Osteopathic Auxiliary; and Eula McKeever who attended with five guests from the Wayne County Medical Auxiliary.

Making up another table were Louise Thetford who arrived with Betty Orr, Sye Chen, Fran Freysinger, and a former Harmony Lane neighbor, Elaine Hansen, now of Westland.

Still others driving out to Southfield were Lee Upton, Lucille Paas, Shirley Hennes, Joy Hill, and Helen Miller and Betty Gott whose group included Eunice Demick and her daughter-in-law, Judy Demick, and Charlotte King.

Attending with her sister, Barbara Hand, of Dearborn, who's also affiliated with the Lawyers Wives Club, were Jan Sierota and Shirley Maguire.

SHOWER FOR MARY

MARY JAHR, who exchanged nuptial vows with Mike Spencer, of Lawrence, Michigan, this past Saturday, was honored guest at a champagne tea a week earlier.

Held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W.K. Rekshan on North Shore Drive, the Sunday shower was attended by some 34 guests who came in from Franklin, Dearborn, Ann Arbor, Lincoln Park, Westland, and Belleville.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Rekshan for the three o'clock gala were Miss Iris Becker, Mrs. Adolph Martin, and Mrs. Herbert Hering, all of Dearborn, and Mrs. Eugene Rhodes, of Belleville.

Several of Mary's college friends were also in town for the occasion - Cindy Daroci (who was maid of honor) and Ann Hope from Michigan State; Sally Buss from Michigan Tech; and Marilyn Berris from Eastern.

When it came time for Mary to unwrap her prettily-packaged gifts, she was assisted by her sister-in-law Pat Jahr, of Westland, who served as matron of honor at the March 29 ceremony.

Mary and her new husband, both sophomores in the School of Education at Michigan State, were later feted at a reception attended by some 150 friends and relatives at the Jahr home on Harmony Lane.

HERE 'N THERE

WE HEARD (via a close friend) that Dick Larson has a very good sense of humor so we figured we were safe in reporting his little jungle-like antle of Sunday, March 22. Seems he and his wife, Jeanne, were taking advantage of the lovely weather that day entertaining at an outdoor barbeque at their Lake Terrace Apartment. Seems, too, that a certain long rope had a particular appeal to the host so, making like Tarzan, he latched on and swung out over Ee'eville Lake. Seems, too, he was the first in his neighborhood to test the lake's temperature this spring. The rope, being rotten... Ah, well, if anyone cares to know how the lake feels in March, just give Dick a call... BILL AND Flo Hudge, of Elwell road, and her dad and mother, the Walter Hess's of Brighton, motored toward Chicago on the 22nd to attend the wedding reception honoring Mrs. Hess's brother and new wife. Arriving at the V.F.W. Club in Midlothian, Illinois (a suburb of the Windy City) they were among the many to congratulate Sam Miller and his bride, the former Barbara Kinglerly. The foursome stayed overnight in Hazelhurst and drove home Sunday... A HAPPY EASTER TO ALL!

Boyne Mountain & Florida On Honeymoon Itinerary

A two part honeymoon trip -- the first week spent skiing at Boyne Mountain in Northern Michigan and the next sunning at Fort Lauderdale, Florida -- followed the February 15 wedding of Lynda Bower and Richard Rakotz, both of Romulus.

Father Joseph Kernosek officiated at the double ring rite at St. Aloysius Catholic Church before an altar adorned with bouquets of white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Janet Potter provided music for the eleven o'clock ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn E. Bower, of 1281 Sharon Street, Romulus, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Ann Rakotz, of 35620 Ronald, Romulus.

ESCORTED TO the sanctuary by her father, Lynda appeared in a white satin creation. The toe-touching A-line skirt featured an inverted 'V' lace insert at the front and a paneled train at the back. The high-rise bodice was designed with a lace-trimmed scoop neckline and wristpoint sleeves with white satin buttons and a small bow at the waist.

Her mid-back veil of silk illusion cascaded from a white satin crown embellished with seed pearls, lace and three streamers at the back. An arrangement of yellow carnations and white baby mums completed her bridal ensemble.

A friend from Romulus, Toni Zaher, served as maid of honor in a formal gown of amethyst velvet styled with long sleeves and an empire waistline. Her accessories were a white rabbit fur muff and matching pillbox hat.

Wearing identical navy blue ensembles were Christine Madej, of Romulus; Mary Ann Mazur, of Detroit; Mrs. Judy Rakotz, of Romulus, sister-in-law of the bridegroom; Mrs. Jo Ann Bower, of Wayne, sister-in-law of the bride; and Mary Snure, of Romulus.

THE BRIDEGROOM'S six brothers served as groomsmen. Ronald Rakotz, of Romulus, was best man while Melvin Rakotz and David Rakotz, both of Romulus; Eugene Rakotz, of New Boston; Hubert Rakotz, of Wayne; and Ralph Rakotz, of Inkster, served as ushers.

A breakfast for 40 was held at the Romulus Progressive Club immediately after the ceremony. A reception there was attended by some 350 guests who were greeted by Mrs. Bower in a pale orchid satin A-line frock with matching accessories. For her son's wedding Mrs. Rakotz chose a soft pink, brocade dress with pink accessories. Both mothers added orchid corsages to their outfits.

Since returning from their wedding trip, the newlyweds have made their home at 8973 Gabriel, Romulus.

A 1965 graduate of Romulus High School, the new Mrs. Rakotz is employed at Kelsey-Hayes Company, Romulus. Her husband, a 1964 Romulus High alumnus, is currently in his junior year at the University of Michigan where he is majoring in mechanical engineering. He is employed part-time at Albert Kahn Associates, Detroit.

Servicemen, College Grads In This Week's News

Harold (Hal) Kranick graduated on March 9 from Michigan State University, East Lansing, where he majored in Economics. He is now substitute teaching in the Romulus Community Schools.

In June Hal plans to start graduate work at Northwestern University in Chicago. He is a Romulus High alumnus of '65, and graduated with honors from "State." His parents, the Harold Kranicks, Sr. reside on Smith Road, Inkster.

Pvt. Thomas B. Morris is home on 14 day furlough from Ft. Knox, Kentucky, where he recently completed his basic training in the U.S. Army. Morris is due to report to Ft. Sill, Oklahoma, next. He is spending his furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Morris on Huron River Drive.

Ronald E. Dick, YN/2 is serving with the U.S. Navy in Vietnam area, where he has been since January. This is his second hitch in the war area. Ronald, son of the Charles Dicks of California Road, has been in service since September, 1965.

The last in a series of Lenten Dinners was held March 25 at the Romulus United Methodist Church, Olive Street. Table hosts and hostesses were: Mrs. Albert Leach, Mrs. Myrtle Rehkopf, Rev. and Mrs. Frank Leineke, Mr. and Mrs. Davis Draper, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Varner, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Herrmann, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Rafalski, Mrs. Marge McCloskey, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Benton, Mrs. Josephine Rehkopf was General Chairman for the series of dinners.

Mrs. Elsie Barton of Wick Road returned home via plane Friday, March 21, after spending two weeks vacationing in Florida. She visited her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Morris, at Bradenton and with other relatives and friends in the area.

Back home after vacationing for a month in Florida are Mr. and Mrs. Orville Summers of Sharon Street. The couple enjoyed sightseeing in the South, saw the Detroit Tigers play at Lakeland, and called on former Romulus residents, Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Crossa, in DeLand (formerly of Grant Road) and Mrs. Cora Buksar, widow of the late Andy Buksar of Huron River Drive. They also called on an uncle, Dr. Elam Harris of Jacksonville, and other relatives.

The local birthday club enjoyed lunch Tuesday, March 25, at Westwood Inn in celebration of the birthdays of Josephine Oakley, Katharine Coash and Katherine Clark. Other ladies present were: Mrs. Mary Oakley (guest), Gladys Thompson, Lola Taylor, Gertrude Berkus, Leona Baker of Wayne.

In two sessions of "Christians Face the Drug Problem," Sr. High and Jr. High Methodist Youth Fellowship members and their friends were shown two film strips recently at the United Methodist Church, Olive Street. The Sr. Group met on Sunday, March 30, and the Jr. Group on Tuesday, April 1. The film strips shown were "Glue Sniffing and Pills" and "Marijuana and LSD."

Kristin Ameer, 8-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Morris of Savage Road, Belleville, was baptised Sunday, March 30 at the Romulus United Methodist Church, with the Rev. Frank Leineke officiating. The baby's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Morris of Huron River Drive South and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hayward of Savage Road, Belleville.

It was refreshing to read in the March 19 "Romulus Roman" about a new type of youth group which has sprung up in Ann Arbor. Calling themselves the Gillnet Gang ("guerillas for good"), they roam the streets evenings painting bridges where obscenities have been printed, boarding up abandoned houses, filling downtown flower planters, etc. Just think! How this nation will be really changed when all the "good guys" among the teen-agers begin to take action instead of the radical "bad guys" we hear about - there are so many more of the former.

A meeting of the 4-H Southwest District Leaders will be held Wednesday, April 2, at the 4-H Fairgrounds near Belleville. The time is 7:30 p.m.

JOHN NAUGHTON, Ford Motor Company vice president and Ford Division general manager, stands with the 1970 Maverick, Ford's answer to the booming imported economy car market and the division's first all new car since the mighty Mustang. Maverick averages 22 1/2 miles per gallon from its peppy six-cylinder engine.

Relations Unit Issues Directive

The Human Relations Committee of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors has directed that uniform procedures be developed for enforcing the non-discrimination clause in county contracts for goods and services.

Under the directive, county department heads will work with the county's new human relations director and with Project Equality of Michigan, Inc., to establish the uniform enforcement procedures.

The supervisors' committee issued the directive after meeting with Julius R. Brown, executive director of Project Equality, to discuss promotion of equal employment opportunity among employers that provide goods and services to the county.

"For a number of years, all contracts let by Wayne County have carried a clause requiring the supplier to provide equal opportunity in his employment practices," said 10th District Supervisor William L. Dunbar, of Detroit, Human Relations chairman.

"Now that the county has a human relations director, we believe uniform procedures should be developed, with the human relations director playing a central role in enforcement."

Mrs. Joyce Garrett, formerly with the Michigan Civil Rights Commission staff, began work as human relations director, the first such county post in Michigan, on Monday, March 24.

Members of the Human Relations Committee include: Joseph F. Young, District 4, vice chairman; George F. Killeen, District 2; Thomas P. O'Rourke, District 14; John H. Shepherd, District 12; Paul Silver, District 11; and Frederick Yates, District 9.

Their elections took place at a recent meeting of the Republican State Central Committee in Farmington.

ROMULUS--Micro-Measurements Division, 38905 Chase Road, recently held a Quality Slogan Contest for its employees.

Everyone was asked to submit slogans, centered on the topic, Quality, which would catch the spirit of the three major plant functions: Production, Engineering and Administration.

The three winners, of fifteen dollars each, were Mrs. Lillian Englehart, Mrs. Virginia Hunt and Mrs. Stella Fay.

Participation was excellent, and all concerned were pleased with the results.

THE WORLD FROM METRO—Giant jetliners carrying the flags of four nations crowd the international section at nearby Metro Airport. The carriers above display the flags of United States, Great Britain, Mexico and Holland. Flights to all corners of the world are now daily routine from Metro, with the tempo increasing greatly every week.

Metro Braces for Greater Travel Boom

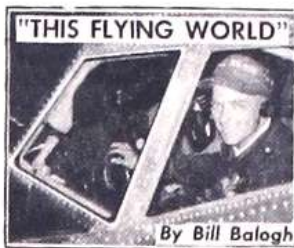

WITH THE 1969 air travel season predicted to become the heaviest in the history of air travel, all major U.S. airlines and foreign carriers have been rolling up their sleeves to meet the rush.

The many new giant jet transports are being pressed into service. New training methods and new personnel are being trained by the thousands by the many air carrier concerns throughout the world.

Metro Airport is constantly undergoing revisions and enlargement with the ever-increasing passenger and cargo traffic. Entire personnel working on the Metro Airport facility less than four years ago barely totaled 500. Today with 14 major air carriers, several air cargo divisions, and many flying service companies, there are over 7000 people employed at Metro Airport.

The bulk of this huge airport number of workers are residents of Wayne, Inkster, Garden City, Westland, Belleville and Romulus. The aviation boom has brought many new companies and building projects into this Western Wayne County area. The many new apartment house complexes have lured hundreds of new residents into this airport perimeter for convenience of living near their place of employment.

By Bill Balogh

The tremendous increase in air traffic and the enlargement of the airport has brought this about. In addition to keeping Metro Airport under control, this tower crew also services Willow Run Airport, Windsor, Canada, Pontiac, Grosse Ile, Detroit City Airport and numerous other small airports in this area where pilots have filed flight plans to be followed.

activity will double and even triple in some growth measurements by 1977.

The report forecasted triple landings and takeoffs at airports with FAA traffic control, and indicated that U.S. scheduled airlines would carry more than 352 million passengers a year by then. This would more than triple last year, one of record years in the history of air travel.

With this trend, the U.S. airline fleet should increase to over 3,500 aircraft, of which almost 3000 will be jets and supersonic transports. With this era will also come the huge jumbo jets that will carry 350 to 500 passengers per flight to all corners of the world.

The day is not far away when one will be able to fly from Metro Airport to Paris in about three hours. While the Russians and French have already flight-tested their first supersonic transports, it is expected that the U.S. supersonic transport will revolutionize air travel.

Now under development to be built at Boeing Aircraft Company's Seattle development center, the American SST is said to be far superior in design over the Anglo-French Concorde or the Russian TU-144 which has been dubbed by the British as "Kondorski" because of its startling resemblance to the Concorde.

The Boeing SST is expected to fly three times the speed of sound, or 1,800 miles per hour. It will be 280 feet long, 50 feet tall and will have a 141-foot, 8-inch wing span. Its General Electric engines will develop a total thrust of 240,000 pounds and cruise with little effort at 60,000 feet.

This rapid growth of the flying world is bringing on the greatest boom for aviation—far beyond the wildest dreams and hopes of the aviation industry a few years ago. The new facilities and the many new building projects underway in the area are all geared at full speed to meet that challenge and to be ready for it.

Seek U.S. Grant

Supervisors OK Probation Plan

Plans are being made for experimental use of neighborhood residents as probation officers at Wayne County Juvenile Court in an effort to help young offenders avoid future mistakes.

The program is intended to have a double-barreled effect: to reduce juvenile delinquency, while at the same time grooming low-income persons for better-paying careers in youth work.

Plans for the one-year program, for which a $150,618 federal grant will be sought, were approved last week by the Juvenile Affairs Committee of the County Board of Supervisors. Approval by the Ways and Means Committee and the full board is required.

"I'm really excited about this concept," said Supervisor Jerome A. Szymanski, of Detroit's 6th District. "It could help solve Juvenile Court's two biggest problems—overcrowding at the Youth Home and the heavy caseloads of the probation officers."

JUVENILE COURT Judge James H. Lincoln has blamed inadequate supervision and a lack of facilities for the fact that half the youngsters who come before Juvenile Court are repeaters.

The program will operate within the boundaries of Detroit's Model Neighborhood area, most of which is on the city's lower east side. Its approximate boundaries are Mt. Elliott, Jefferson, Bagley, Grand River and Milwaukee.

Hiring of 12 residents of the area as probation assistants is proposed. They would be chosen on a basis of their apparent ability to help the youngsters, rather than on their academic and employment credentials.

At present, a master's degree in social work is required of probation officers at the court.

EACH ASSISTANT would have a caseload of 25 to 40 youngsters, the number depending on whether they were boys or girls. This compares with caseloads of 100 for probation officers at the court.

The program is designed to serve about 500 youths.

Typical example can be especially noted at the nerve center of this monster air facility, the Control Tower, situated atop the LeRoy Smith Terminal, the largest building on the airport. Here in this original tower less than four years ago the Federal Aviation Administration had on duty nine men covering three shifts.

Today the picture has radically changed. The same three shifts are covered by almost 70 highly skilled air traffic controllers under the direction of George Niles and his assistant Tom Jones.

Metro runways know very few dull moments. Landings and takeoffs at the airport are averaging over 1000 every 24 hours. With the excellent landing approach systems for bad weather operations, a special tribute can be paid the air traffic controllers on duty here, inasmuch as it has been reported that the Metro facility ranks in the top five in the nation for instrument landings and takeoffs.

In a ten-year aviation forecast compiled and released by the Federal Aviation Administration about a year ago, it was predicted that air travel

300 Heifers Get Ride on New Range

A Douglas DC-8 convertible jetliner flew nearly 300 passengers from Fort Worth to Punta Arenas, Chile, 6,300 miles, with no stewardesses, coffee, or cocktails aboard.

The "passengers," all heifers, would hardly have asked for steak dinners. The heifers, first shipment of an expected 7,000 animal "cowlift" to Chile, were "ushered aboard a Trans International jet by ranglers who enjoyed coffee from an old fashioned chuck wagon which sat nearby.

Eight flights (the jet is equipped with additional fans) will speed choice Texas breeding stock to the Chilean pasture lands near Cape Horn at South America's tip end.

Luggage Grows For Airlines

This year the airlines will fly more than 150-million passengers. Based on the industry's average of 1.3 bags per passenger, 225 million pieces of luggage will be loaded, offloaded and coordinated with the passengers' arrivals at destinations.

While the airlines realize that efficient baggage handling is their responsibility, they offer some suggestions to help the situation: Use personal identification both inside and outside luggage; remove old destination tags.

Improves Weather Forecasting

The Government of South Africa has inaugurated operation of a satellite-tracking unit for use in weather forecasting. The unit will track ESSA 111, an American launched satellite, placed into a near perfect orbit 750 miles above the earth before Christmas.

The satellite and its tracking equipment is said to represent a revolutionary advance in the South African Weather Bureau's ability to collect weather data.

Government officials said that vital data, lacking in the past, "will be lacking no longer."

A majority of the equipment involved was built and assembled in Pretoria, but some components were obtained from Japanese, British or American sources.

Airline Totes More Cargo

Domestic Air Cargo, carried by U.S. scheduled airlines in January operations this year, reached the new total of 195,754,000 tons of freight, mail, and express.

A ton mile is one ton of cargo flown one mile. The total represents a 21 percent increase over the record set in January 1968.

Largest Jet Comes Off The Line

The first passenger model of the world's largest commercial passenger jet transport, the Boeing 747, has emerged from Boeing's cavernous paint hangar at the company's assembly facility.

The huge airplane, which dwarfed a nearby 707, wears the blue, white and silver markings of Pan American World Airways.

Named "Jet Clipper America," the 362-passenger aircraft is "number two" on the Boeing 747 assembly line. Schedule to be delivered to Pan Am in September this year, it is one of thirty-three 747's ordered by the American flag carrier.

Spare Parts Really Needed

The National Aerospace Education Council reports a computer study which showed that a two-year earth orbiting space flight with a crew of eight would need eight tons of spare parts aboard to be certain of completing the flight successfully.

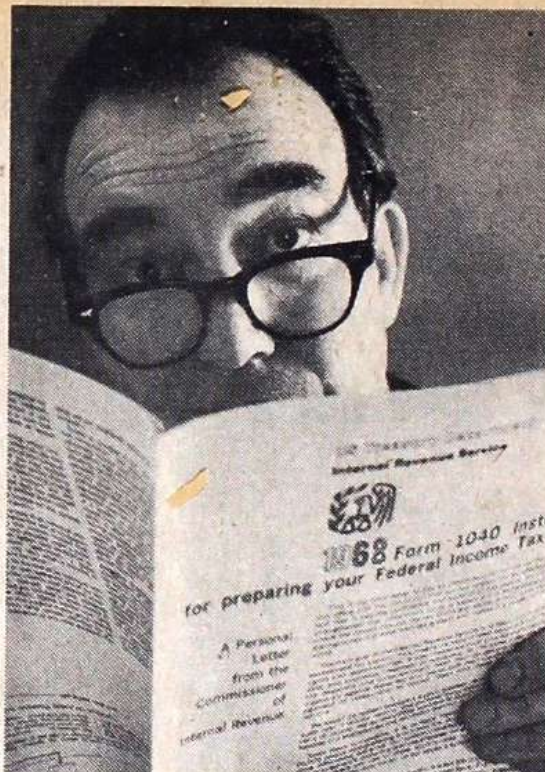

The computer study assumed the astronauts would be conducting experiments in space and testing systems required for a two-year flight to Mars. The crew would, the computer foretold, likely average three man hours a day just doing routine maintenance work.

COUNTY PLAN STRESSED

Need to Coordinate Activities Concerned with Manpower Cited

A demand for greatly increased efforts to meet the employment needs of out-country Wayne's low-income population was made at a recent meeting of the Coordinated Area Manpower Planning System (CAMPS) Committee by Jack Carper, Manpower Specialist for the Wayne County Office of Economic Opportunity.

"Statistics on the County which describe total need on the one hand and resources on the other do not make distinction as to which poverty populations receive specific services.

"A breakdown of poverty population by geographic area would reveal approximately 75 percent of the needy poor in Detroit. A similar breakdown of manpower service delivery programs would show between 95 and 99 percent of facilities and services located in and serving the residents of Detroit. A plan for the County must redress this imbalance," Carper explained.

"Employment and training needs exist throughout the County and yet for many reasons the principal thrust of programming to meet these needs is limited to the populous center of Detroit. A County plan can for the first time address itself to the total County need, and CAMPS as a manpower planning system for Wayne County provides a unique opportunity," Carper stated.

CAMPS IS the vehicle designed to coordinate activities of federal, state and local organizations concerned with manpower.

"Most, if not all, programs designed to provide manpower services to the poverty population are interdependent. One does not work without the service inputs of other programs. CAMPS itself is part of a growing design which has as one of its purposes providing those linkages without which individual programs have little if any chance of success," Carper told the committee.

"CAMPS has been gathering authority as it is mentioned in more and more manpower legislation and agency guideline directives. The agencies who are a party to CAMPS are obligated to make their own program responsive to the needs of the other cooperating agencies. The mandate to Wayne County CAMPS is to plan for the delivery of manpower services throughout the County," the OEO manpower specialist said.

"The past period has witnessed a growing concentration of manpower services and programs in Detroit. In their totality they are inadequate to cope with Detroit's unemployment and underemployment. A new emphasis which includes the needs of the County outside of Detroit need not be at the expense of Detroit. However, to correct a situation of extreme imbalance the problem must be dealt with consciously at each step.

"Specific federal programs such as WIN (Work Incentive), Department of Vocational Rehabilitation's expanded role with hard-core unemployed and OEO's obligation to provide a continuous manpower service are each dependent on training and job placement programs that are funded independent of the mentioned programs.

"A planning capability, if CAMPS is meant to facilitate planning, must make resources available to the agencies whose plans are required to be coordinated with other cooperating agencies.

"MANY AGENCIES and facilities throughout the County who can provide supportive services in relation to manpower programming are denied the opportunity. The total effect is that of considerable waste of what could otherwise be a comprehensive program of support to the County's poverty population.

"CAMPS has reached sufficient maturity where it can address itself to manpower needs including the need to program for the entire County population.

Plymouth Scores Most Points in Three Tests

A Plymouth Fury I scored the highest number of points of all 60 cars that competed in fuel economy, acceleration and braking tests of the Union/Pure Oil Performance Trials at Daytona Beach, Fla.

The Plymouth Fury, competing in Class V for cars equipped with standard V-8 engines, scored a total of 98 performance points out of a possible 100.

Two other Plymouth entries finished first in their respective classes, giving the Plymouth line of cars winners in three out of the nine classes of competition.

Other Plymouth winners were a Valiant Signet in Class VII for six-cylinder compact economy cars, and a Barracuda in Class IX for sports compacts.

The Union/Pure Oil Performance Trials, held under the supervision of the National Association for Stock Car Racing, compared the basic performance characteristics of American-made 1969 models which are in the popular price ranges.

The fuel economy tests measured a car's fuel consumption at an average speed of 40 miles per hour over a distance of 18.567 miles.

The acceleration tests measured the time it took a car to accelerate from 25 to 70 miles per hour.

The braking tests demonstrated the car's high-speed stopping capability immediately after severe brake usage.

The 60 stock cars competing in the tests were taken directly from dealers' showrooms throughout the country to provide a realistic comparison of various makes and models.

Wagon Air Deflector

The 1969 Plymouth Fury station wagon models have a new and efficient air deflector, mounted at the rear of the roof to divert air around and across the big rear window, significantly reducing vision obstruction.

2,000 Teams of Students Competing in Plymouth's Trouble Shooting Contest

Teams of student mechanics from more than 2,000 high schools and colleges in every state of the Union will compete for $125,000 worth of prizes in the 21st annual Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest.

The contest is sponsored by the Chrysler-Plymouth Division of Chrysler Motors Corporation and Plymouth Dealers of America to encourage students with mechanical talent to continue their education and pursue careers in the growing automotive service business.

The winning two-man team at each of the 100 regional and state contests being held this spring will compete for $125,000 worth of scholarships, prizes, trophies and automotive equipment for their schools at the National Finals at the Indianapolis 500 Speedway in mid-June.

Winners at local and national contests are chosen by the speed and skill with which they find and fix malfunctions under the hood of a new Plymouth and restore the car to normal operating condition. All teams work on identical cars that have been deliberately tampered with in the same way.

Plymouth Dealers sponsor a two-man team from their local school and make a Plymouth car available to practice on. The teams from the 2,000 participating schools, which have a combined enrollment of 150,000 students taking automotive shop courses, are selected by school instructors.

The Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest originated in Los Angeles in 1949. It was sponsored by Plymouth Dealers there who sought to recruit young men as mechanic trainees.

Since the contest became national in scope in 1962, scholarships have been awarded to 116 students and full or part-time jobs have been found for more than 15,000 young men.

State Champ Leads ANP Swim Team

6 HOLDOVERS FROM LAST YEAR'S SQUAD

Denard Oliver, one of the "charter members" of Inkster High's swimming team, captured the Class B State Title in the breaststroke recently and became the only area tanker to win such honors and the first in the history of the school to win a coveted state swim title.

Oliver, an 18-year-old senior who has earned three varsity stripes in swimming, leads this week's Associated Newspapers' All-Area Swim Team selections.

Denard, who hopes to attend the University of Michigan next fall, is one of six who retains All-Area status. He was picked on last year's mythical team as the 100-yard breaststroke.

Oliver has a long list of swim honors including first places in the Mid-Wayne Conference as well as the Western Wayne Invitation. His 1:06.8 which clinched the state crown in the breaststroke is also the school record.

Picked this year for the honorary team also are Bob Dahlman (Cherry Hill), Jim Webley (Garden City West), Paul Nicholls (Wayne Memorial) and Ken Kinast (Garden City West) who combine to make up the 200 yard medley team.

Belleville dominates the freestyle entries with Chet Meyer and Phil Barr retaining their 200 and 50 yard freestyle posts. Garden City East's versatile tanker, Ted Wasilewski, will swim the 200 yard individual medley while West's Gene Sellers and Belleville's Barry Susterka were chosen as the ANP's divers.

Wayne's veteran swimmer, Robert Rail returns to the team as the 100-yard butterfly representative and West's John Skinner moves into the 100 yard freestyle post while Fred Enot represents the Zebras in the 100-yard backstroke.

A second member of the Susterka household - Brad - swims the 400 yard freestyle and Oliver, of course, was an unanimous choice to perform in the 100 yard breaststroke.

Winding up the mythical team are Bob Coppock (Belleville); Tom Graham (Franklin); Paul Joseph (Garden City West) and Mike O'Neill (Garden City East) who'll combine their talents for the 400 yard freestyle relay.

The Coach of the Year honor was awarded Belleville's Bill Brandell, the victor of the Sixth Annual Western Wayne Swim Meet.

Of the three Wayne Memorial swimmers, two of them will be back in coach Dick Helppie's lineup next year. The juniors are Nicholls and Enot, both of whom hold school records.

Nicholls, 16, made it to the State Finals this season and holds the school record for the 100 yard breaststroke with a 1:07.1. He placed second in the WW meet to Oliver and also was second in the Sauk Trail League. His first year of varsity competition, Paul was awarded the Most Improved Trophy on the Zebra squad. He also came away from the Garden City Invitational with a gold medal.

Enot also reached the State Finals in the 100 yard backstroke and turned a 1:00.5 which is the school record. He was first in the WW and Garden City Meets and second in the league. Fred was a co-captain this season.

Rail rounds out an exciting career, co-captained the Zebras to their first winning season (11-6). He gained gold medals in both the WW and Oliver and also was second

BRANDELL
Coach of Year

WESTERN WAYNE CHAMP Belleville's Brandell Swim 'Coach of Year'

Breaking the ice in the Suburban Six Conference, winning his third Western Wayne Invitational Swim Title in the last six years are just some of the accomplishments of Belleville head swimming coach Bill Brandell who the Associated Newspapers honors this week as the "Coach of the Year".

Brandell, 29, is a graduate of the University of Michigan where he earned his Bachelor of Science degree in Physical Education in 1961. Upon graduation, he began work at Belleville High where, over the past eight seasons, Bill has produced some outstanding swimmers.

His teams have dominated the Western Wayne Meets where they have emerged with titles three of the six times.

He is, however, still seeking a winning year in the Suburban Six Conference where swimmers from Allen Park, Bentley, Trenton and Plymouth always seem to come up with talent to spare.

"I think we have finally got together some young swimmers who will give our league rivals something to think about next year," said coach Brandell. "It isn't a secret that teams like Allen Park have been in contention for the state championship and we have had to face them with thin ranks."

"But we do have some excellent talent on our team and I feel we will be prepared by next season," said Brandell.

Swimming is a family affair for Bill and his wife, Shrug, who have been following the sport since their high school days at Plymouth High.

Mrs. Brandell follows the team to the State Finals with a "I wouldn't miss it for the world" reaction to that annual event. She feels that the State Championship is the ultimate goal for a high school coach - in any sport.

And will Bill and his Tigers ever wear the State Class A Swim Crown?

"We're hopeful - it takes a lot of work and it's a lot of pressure, but someday, with a little bit of luck, he may make it," says Mrs. Brandell.

Well, the Brandells should have three excellent swimmers to help out. Two of them Brian 9, and Barry 6, are already accomplished tankers and are hopeful of swimming for their dad's team someday. Cherise, however, the Brandell's 11 year-old daughter, must find another team - but she's always rootin' for the Tigers.

THE SPORTS MERIDIAN

Kilgore Eyes Hawks' Nest

I had an opportunity to stretch my coffee break a couple of days ago with Art Sheridan who, aside from being a Wayne resident, is also head basketball coach at Henry Ford Community College in Dearborn.

Sheridan is "crossing his fingers" these days because a week ago William Kilgore, that 6-foot-9 beanpole who led River Rouge to an unprecedented ninth Class B State Basketball championship and his team mate Charles Erwin paid HFC a visit and talked about attending the Dearborn community college.

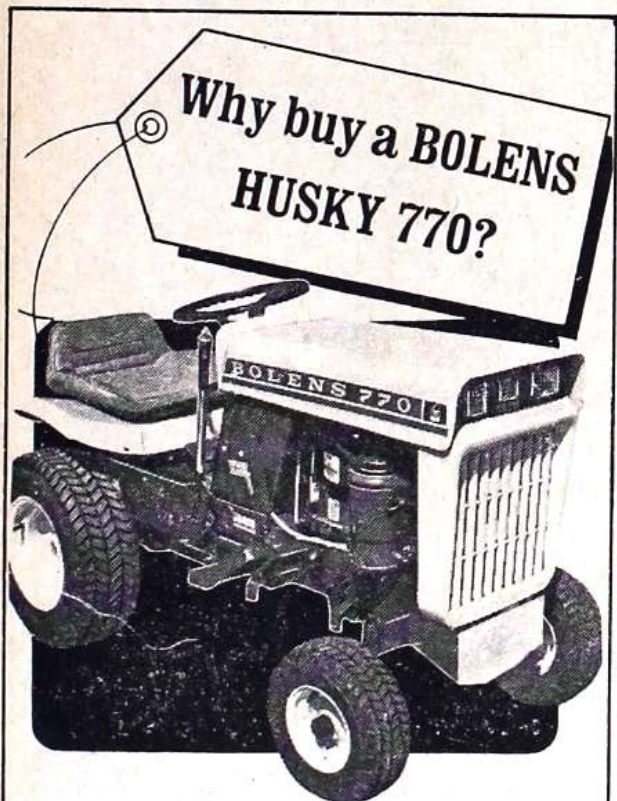

Art, of course, hopes Kilgore and Erwin will decide in favor of the Hawks who need such height to compete in the tough Michigan Junior College Conference.

"We don't have a definite commitment," said coach Sheridan, "and we know he'll be talking to plenty of others before he decides, but we feel we can offer him - as well as any other athlete - much in a way of sports and education."

Sheridan is one who believes that promising athletes should enroll at junior colleges first where they'll be certain of playing, instead of winding up on the benches of the bigger colleges.

And there's plenty of logic to that.

Richendollar Bows Out as Mat Coach

TO DEVOTE MORE TIME TO FOOTBALL

BELLEVILLE- Gentleman Jim Richendollar, popular coach at Belleville High School, is bowing out as wrestling coach to devote his full-time energies to football. And in doing so he is leaving many people with saddened hearts.

The saddened hearts are among the parents of the boys who wrestle because they realize that Richendollar is not only a man of ability, but a man of resourcefulness as well.

Although he fashioned the Tigers into a formidable mat team, Jim feels he is not good enough a wrestling coach and should turn it over to someone more capable. His teams had a good 41-23 record the past four years against some of the best competition around.

The likeable, modest Richendollar admitted, "I honestly feel if the boys would have a better coach, they could have had a much finer record. And I also think Brad Warrick probably would have been state champion the last two years instead of runner-up."

This is the way Richendollar is, a soft-spoken gentleman in every way - and a man of marked contrasts. He has a masters from the University of Michigan, but loves collecting old comic books. He was a Little All American while attending Hillsdale from 1960-62, but teaches his boys to be kind and polite.

He lives in the city, but his love is anything to do with draft horses. This is his first and foremost love - collecting books and pictures of draft horses. And he's interested

LAST MAT SEASON—Jim Richendollar who started the wrestling program at Belleville High three years ago will leave his head coaching duties to devote all of his time to the football team.

3 New Tiger Films Offered To Groups

DETROIT--Three exciting baseball films are now available to groups of Tiger fans who want to relive the 1968 American League pennant race and World Series.

The "1968 World Series" is generally considered the best World Series film ever produced. Wink Films, Inc. has turned out a 41-minute motion picture that captures the highlights of the series and employs replays and interviews with players, both firsts for World Series films. Particular emphasis is given to the Lou Brock-Bill Freehan play at home plate in the fifth game, "one of two key defensive plays that turned the series around," the script reads. The film is sponsored by Coca-Cola.

World Series action also is included in the Tiger season highlight film "Year of the Tiger-'68". The 34-minute movie should be of special interest to Tiger fans because it chronicles the Tiger story from the last out of the heart-breaking 1967 season to their World Series victory in 1968. It is sponsored by the National Bank of Detroit.

Several scenes of the Tigers in regular-season action and the World Series are featured in "Baseball-'68", a lively, 22-minute film presented by Investors Diversified Services. It features fast-moving, action-packed scenes that highlighted the 1968 season, including the Dick McAuliffe-Tommy John fracas.

All three are 16 mm. films, in color and sound, and can be reserved by writing: Film Department, Tiger Stadium, Detroit Mich. 48216.

"Year of the Tiger-'68" also can be obtained from

Films, National Bank of Detroit, Woodward & Fort, Detroit, Mich. 48216, and "Baseball-'68" by writing IDS, P.O. Box 1414, Minneapolis, Minn. 55440.

There is no charge for showing before groups where no admission is charged.

Golf Course Opens at Metro Park

The 18-hole "Par 3" golf course at Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville is now open.

Fees are $1.00 Monday through Friday and $1.50 on Saturday, Sunday and holidays. Equipment provided includes a putter and a nine or seven iron. Persons may use their own golf balls or purchase them from the park. Course hours are from 8 a.m. to dusk daily, with extended hours later in the season.

Over 236,000 persons have used the course since it was dedicated in May of 1961, with over 20,300 persons in 1968 compared to 26,300 in 1967.

To reach the park, visitors should take the Edsel Ford (I-94) Freeway and use the Haggerty Road Interchange to reach the park entrance along Hannan Road, which is 1/2 mile south of the freeway. Lower Huron Park is located 25 miles from downtown Detroit and the Haggerty Road Interchange is located between Metropolitan Airport and Belleville.

The Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority also operates an 18-hole "Par 3" course at Metropolitan Beach near Mt. Clemens and an 18-hole 6,400-yard Par 71 course at Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford.

Copeland, Ward Earn MSU Stripes

Among the 11 basketball letters awarded to Michigan State University cagers this season, two went to former, Inkster and Romulus stars.

Lloyd Ward, prolific scorer from Romulus, and Bernard Copeland, of Inkster, received Spartan stripes, it was announced by Athletic Director Biggie Munn this week.

It obviously still is hard to keep up with the Joneses. Former Wayne State University standout Paul Jones, a 1957 Detroit Pershing High School graduate, still holds seven WSU records set in 1963, six in hurdle events plus the 60-yard dash record.

They also have a big, loveable English Bulldog, Duke, that roams around their modest white home which sits directly across from the high school.

"I really hate to give up coaching wrestling," Jim admitted, "but I honestly feel it is for the best. I'll probably still go to most of the matches, and I'll never forget the joy these boys have brought me."

And the boys and their parents will not forget what Jim has done for them either.

He has multitudes of old comics, including Tarzan, Blackhawk and all the others that excited kids in the old days. His oldest comic dates back to 1936, and these, like many other old items, have suddenly become quite valuable.

Jim's wife, Sharon, is as wrapped up in the sports as he is. "I get so excited I start yelling and then I have to catch myself and settle down," she grinned. The Richendollars have three children, Laura, 6, Melvin, 5, and Betty, 18 months.

In buying any old Breder's Gazette magazines around. At the wrestling banquet Saturday evening he was presented with a large picture of three draft horses working in the field and he couldn't have been prouder.

He became interested in old comic books about five years ago while working on his masters degree at U. of M. He went to Detroit and they wanted two or three dollars each for old comics. He travelled around the state and came upon 2,000 of them in an old book store in Jackson, Michigan and has since become close friends with the owners.

Oliver Heads Swimmers

GC Meets to climax three years' of varsity competition.

Garden City West and coach George Hanosh are well represented on the '69 ANP team with five swimmers who were the key to the Tigers' title season in the Tri-River Conference.

Three juniors, Jim Webley, John Skinner, Paul Joseph and two seniors Gene Sellers, Ken Kinast formed the nucleus of the West squad.

Webley, 16, has been swimming varsity two years and holds the school record for the 100-yard butterfly with a 1:01 flat. He was "robbed" of two gold medals at the Tri-River when he was touched out at the finish line and judge's decisions went the wrong way for him.

Skinner, a backstroke specialist, is the league champ and also holds records for the 200 yard freestyle (2:03.7) and the 100 backstroke (1:01.1) and swims a 2:24.7 for the 200 yard individual medley.

Joseph's specialties are the 50 and 100 yard freestyle where he has stroked 24 and 54.6, respectively. It was his first year on varsity.

Seniors Sellers and Kinast are the top point-getters on the team. Sellers, the team's co-captain claimed the diving championship in the Tri-River and wound up three years' of competition, while Kinast, also a three-year varsity veteran, is co-holder of the record in the 50 yard freestyle (24 flat) and swims the 100 yard freestyle in 55.6.

West's freestyle relay team of Joseph, Skinner, Webley and Kinast, captured the WW title with a 3:40.3 performance.

Garden City East's Panthers and coach Kirt Winn send two experienced tankers to the team in Wasilewski, one of the most versatile in the area, and O'Neill, a member of the East varsity for the past three years.

Wasilewski is a second year All-Area swimmer who turned a 2:16.8 for the 200 yard individual medley. Also a three year varsity man, Ted holds a string of records which include the 200 yard freestyle (2:05.1); 50 yard freestyle (23.9); 100 yard freestyle (53 flat).

He placed first in the 200 IM at the WW and was second in the 100 yard freestyle. He came away from the Garden City Invitational with gold medals in the 50 and 100 yard freestyle events.

Ted also has earned letters in golfing.

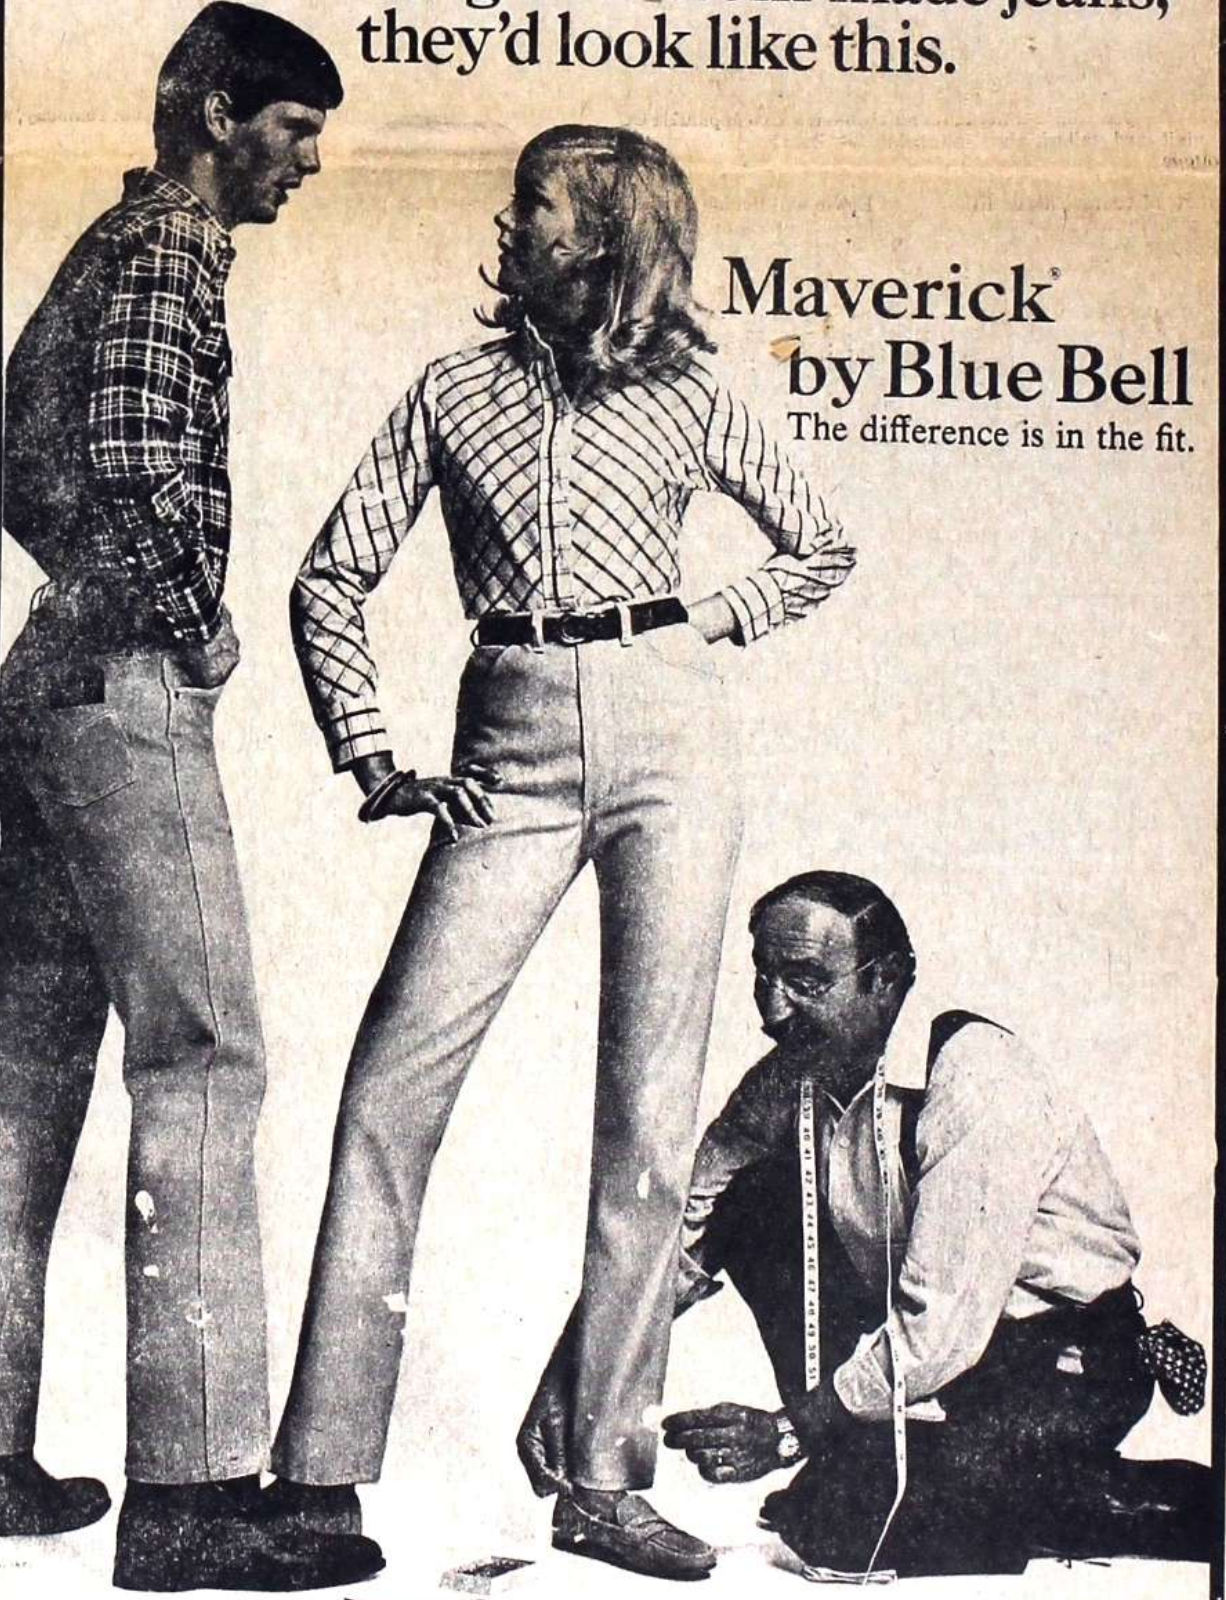

O'Neill, who had an opportunity to quarterback this year's East grid squad, also has letters in football and baseball. He placed second and third in the freestyle events at the Western Wayne and hopes to continue his education and swimming at Eastern Michigan University.

Cherry Hill, which surprised many swim teams in their second year as a swimming school, sends its Most Valuable Swimmer to the team. He's Bob Dahlman, Dahlman, who was third in the backstroke in both the WW and the Garden City Invationals, placed second in the Tri-River Conference.

A junior with two years of varsity experience behind him, Bob has been clocked in 1:02.6 for the 100 yard backstroke and 2:22 flat for

County Session on State Tax Equalization Set

Invited by the County Board of Supervisors, the Michigan Tax Commission will hold a public hearing on property tax equalization at 10 a.m. Monday, April 7, in the City-County Building auditorium.

The Tax Commission was asked to hold the hearing after suburban officials and property owners complained about equalization at a similar hearing held by the Supervisors Committee on Equalization, Taxation and Apportionment.

Approximately 75 homeowners and various officials from 14 suburbs attended the supervisors hearing March 7. They charged that the state-imposed equalization formula is unfair. They also called for changes in the state school air formula, complaining that when a city is equalized upward, its school aid is reduced.

In related action, the Committee on Equalization, Taxation and Apportionment, meeting March 24, endorsed state legislation which would exempt eligible homeowners over age 65 from school taxes. The measure, Senate Bill No. 56, would exempt those with incomes of no more than $5,000 and equalized valuation of no more than $15,000.

Chairman of the supervisors' committee, Rudy Hickey, 18th District Supervisor and former Ecorse assessor, said the exemption is needed because retired persons are caught in a squeeze between the rising cost of living and their fixed incomes.

Seven other committees of the Board of Supervisors met during the March 24-28 work week.

The Committee on Law Enforcement and Public Safety called for reports on the relative safety of Chemical Mace, the aerosol spray developed to subdue persons in situations such as riots.

Sheriff Roman S. Gribbs told the committee that he had studied a University of Michigan report which the Board of Supervisors had been waiting for, and concluded that Mace "can be a useful police tool, properly used by properly trained officers."

Gribbs said he is interested in equipping selected and trained officers with Mace.

Ralph Patrick Turco, of Westland, 25th District Supervisor, chairman of the committee and a retired Sheriff's chief of detectives, stated: "I believe Mace is more humane and less harmful than the alternatives - a nightstick or blackjack."

But 11th Dist. Supervisor Paul Silver, of Detroit, said he possessed a report which indicated that Mace could cause permanent harm.

The Committee asked that the U. of M. study and the report referred to by Silver be submitted for consideration at a meeting in early April.

The Supervisors' Committee on Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) met with Paul Conlan, Wayne County director of the Michigan Department of Social Services, and Willard Koths, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Social Services, to discuss the demand by welfare mothers for a spring clothing allowance. Some 20 mothers, recipients of Aid to Dependent Children (ADC), attended the meeting.

The mothers, who won a $60 clothing allowance for each school-age child after a series of demonstrations last fall, have asked for an additional $60 for each family member, including themselves. Conlan estimated that could cost Wayne County more than $5-million.

"The request for clothing funds above the present $5 per month per child allowance has considerable justification," Conlan said. "But all figures we've been able to compile indicate that $36 would be a reasonable figure."

N. Frank Cylkowski, 16th Dist. Supervisor and HEW chairman, appointed a subcommittee, headed by 5th Dist. Supervisor Freddie G. Burton, to explore the problem further with members of the State Legislature. The Prosecuting Attorney's Office was asked to draft legislation which would liberalize the state law governing social services to permit higher clothing allowances.

The Supervisors' Committee on General Government, which has given "in principle" endorsement to re-submitting the once-defeated County Home Rule proposition to the voters, received cost estimates of up to nearly $900,000 for a special home rule election.

Faced with the apparent magnitude of costs, the committee decided to meet with community groups which have advocated county home rule to solicit their thinking on the matter. The meeting was set for 6 p.m. Wednesday, April 9, in the City-County Building auditorium.

Among those being invited to participate are representatives of the political parties, the Civic Searchlight, Inc., business and labor organizations and news media.

The County Election Commission estimated that a county-wide special election held in conjunction with the Detroit municipal elections next autumn would cost a total of $496,930 - $264,865 for the primary and $232,065 for the final election.

If a special home rule election were required by initiative petition, a course which has been advocated by the Democratic district chairman, the total cost would be $891,930 - $459,865 for the primary and $432,065 for the final.

A special election on the home rule proposition could be conducted at no extra cost if the Board of Supervisors waited to place the proposition on the ballot for the state-wide election which will be held in the autumn of 1970, the committee was told.

The Supervisors' Public Works Committee adopted a resolution designed to see that residents are informed before any zoning exceptions are allowed along Wayne County roads. Under the procedure, the County Road Commission would request the city or township in which the variance is sought to notify all residents within 500 feet.

The committee, headed by 20th Dist. Supervisor Frank B. Swapka, of Dearborn Heights, acted after the Outer-Van Dyke Homeowners Association, Inc., expressed fear that a parking lot which the Road Commission allowed on the grassy median between the sidewalk and curb in front of a business on East Outer Drive in Detroit might be a "break-through" for the spoilage of the thoroughfare.

The Ways and Means Committee, which consists of all 26 board members, met Thursday, March 27, and acted on a long list of items.

The committee voted 16 to 7 to reject a request by the Board of County Auditors for veto power over decisions of the Board of Supervisors on budget matters.

The Transportation Committee, chaired by 24th Dist. Supervisor Edmund Bizak, of Romulus, heard the routes between downtown Detroit and Metropolitan Airport and out Woodward Avenue toward Pontiac described as the two corridors which "stand out" for initial development of a rapid transit system.

The statement was made by Dr. Wilbur Thompson, board chairman of the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA), in describing the role of SEMTA in efforts to develop a mass transit system for the six-county region. He said SEMTA has applied for a $180,000 federal grant to finance a regional mass transit study.

The committee also was briefed on the six-county Transportation and Land Use Study (TALUS) by Irving J. Rubin, TALUS director. Rubin said much of the information being assembled by TALUS would be fed into the SEMTA study.

Budget-Cuts Challenge Is Issued by Ford

WASHINGTON, D.C.--Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) has challenged Treasury Secretary David Kennedy to explain a recent statement that budget cuts could be made in the Departments of Health, Education and Welfare, and Housing and Urban Development.

Secretary Kennedy made the remark March 23 on the nationally televised "Issues and Answers" program.

Ford, after hearing the Secretary's comments, sent him the following telegram:

"Your statement yesterday on Issues and Answers that very large items could be cut from HEW and HUD budgets has caused some apprehensions which I hope you will soon be able to put to rest.

"In light of the overwhelming needs of local school districts for financial aid, the continued need for manpower training programs and the housing crisis in our cities, it is difficult to see where surpluses exist that could reasonably be cut in these areas.

"I would appreciate it if you would immediately indicate which specific programs you intend to reduce or eliminate in order to effectuate these cuts."

Ford received a reply from Frank W. Schiff, Deputy Under Secretary for Monetary Affairs in the Department of the Treasury.

Schiff pointed out that Secretary Kennedy, replying to questions on the Issues and Answers program, was giving "only his personal views." Schiff added that the Administration is in the process of reviewing all Federal programs to find ways of cutting expenses, and continued:

"Once this review has been completed, it will be up to the President to set final priorities among the various programs. As the Secretary indicated, there are undoubtedly some programs that will have to be increased, and some that cannot be cut. Until the President has made the final decision on these matters, it is not possible to indicate which specific programs the Administration intends to cut."

Schiff also noted that President Nixon had recommended extension of the 10 percent surtax, now scheduled to expire this year, and had directed all Departments to review and cut their proposed budgets for the coming fiscal year.

Ford, who voted against the surtax last year and is opposed to its extension, has argued that the surtax would not be necessary if existing income tax loopholes were closed. He has co-sponsored a tax-reform program which would close such loopholes and force big corporations and wealthy persons to pay their fair share of the tax burden.

"I agree that substantial cuts can be made in Federal spending," Ford said. "But I do not believe that these cuts should be made at the expense of our educational system, our manpower-training programs, and our plans to help solve the crisis in our cities.

"If the Administration really wants to cut expenses, I suggest they take another look at the multi-billion-dollar anti-ballistic-missile system which the President has proposed. I also suggest that we make some drastic cuts in the farm-subsidy program, which the taxpayers support with their tax dollars, and then pay for again in the form of higher food prices.

"I am not at all satisfied with the answer I have received from the Treasury Department," Ford declared. "I will be watching closely in the coming months to see what the Administration recommends in the way of budget cuts."

License Nursery Home Operators, Bill Asks

WESTLAND---All nursing homes in the state would have to have a licensed administrator under a bill introduced in the House of Representatives by State Rep. Vincent J. Pettipren, D-Westland.

The bill sets eligibility standards for licensing and defines the responsibility of the administrator. If approved, the bill would be effective January 1, 1970.

"This bill," Pettipren said, "would conform to standards established in a federal law which requires all states to have nursing home administrators in order to be eligible for federal funds for the care of the elderly. If we do not have nursing home administrators by 1972, we face the loss of these federal monies." The federal law, Pettipren added, was introduced by Massachusetts Senator Edward M. Kennedy.

Pettipren's bill classes any establishment which cares for two or more persons not related to the owner or administrator as a nursing home. The administrator's duties would include planning, organizing, directing and controlling the total operation of the nursing home.

The licenses would be granted by the State Department of Public Health. In order to be eligible for a license an applicant would have to have completed a course of instruction and training approved by the department, pass an examination conducted by the department, be at least 21 years old, be of good moral character and be physically and emotionally capable of administering a nursing home.

The department would be able to revoke licenses. Temporary licenses could be issued to persons who already are nursing home administrators, if they meet necessary requirements of the department.

Licenses would be for two years and could be renewed by application.

Pettipren's bill adds that if the director of the Department of Public Health feels there are not sufficient numbers of courses to meet the requirements of the law, he can make provisions for additional courses for example: Hygiene, Sanitation, Nursing, Geriatric, etc.

The federal law requires the states to have programs for licensing nursing home administrators in order to be eligible for federal funds, Pettipren points out.

The County Election Commission estimated that a county-wide special election held in conjunction with the Detroit municipal elections next autumn would cost a total of $496,930 - $264,865 for the primary and $232,065 for the final election.

Chaplin Comedy Set

DEARBORN-It won't be a Hollywood-style world premier at the Henry Ford Museum Theater at Greenfield Village next Saturday, April 5, since there will be no searchlights probing the sky and no Hollywood starlets in furs and jewels. However, they are presenting the world premier of a new film; the brand new version of Charlie Chaplin's classic comedy, "The Gold Rush."

Made in 1925, "The Gold Rush" has long been considered one of the ten best comedy films ever made. This new version retains all the elements that earned it this reputation, adding only a theater organ background and commentary by Mike Whorf of radio station WJR, Detroit.

The organ score was developed specifically for this version to recreate the atmosphere of the old movie palaces and enhance the comedy and pathos of Chaplin's script. The commentary is designed to point up unobtrusively Chaplin's comedy technique and to help today's audiences enjoy the film more fully.

Produced locally, the new film is set for national distribution immediately after its eight-day engagement at the Museum.

"The Gold Rush" is shown as part of the Easter Family Film Program which also includes "Hog Wild," a Laurel and Hardy comedy short made in 1930. Fun-filled matinees are scheduled daily Monday through Saturday at 1 and 3 p.m. On Sundays, concluding April 13, the performances are set for 2 and 4 p.m. There is no additional charge for the movies to regular Museum visitors.

Red Cross Mobile Sets Visit

Twice each month, on the second and fourth Thursday, the Red Cross sets up a bloodmobile at 2440 South Telegraph, near Michigan for area residents to replace blood used by a patient, or to help replenish a group account to which they belong or for a person to donate to a self-account against future needs.

The next bloodmobile call to this Dearborn location is Thursday, April 10. Hours are from 2:00 to 8:00 p.m. To make a time-saving appointment call the Red Cross office at 274-5450.

CAP Unit Celebrates Birthday

ROMULUS—The Metro Emergency Services Senior Squadron, of the Civil Air Patrol, recently celebrated their third birthday with a beautiful cake, baked and decorated by our Commander's wife, Mrs. Harry B. Bell. Twelve of our members were present.

A First Aid Course started by Squadron was completed in two consecutive Sundays. The instructor was Patrolman Donald Woods of the Taylor Police Department. He was assisted by Ernie Smith, who is Civil Defense Director of that City.

Charles Reynolds, a Taylor fireman, instructed members in Mouth to Mouth Resuscitation. A "dummy", was used to practice on. All members passed the test.

"I am sure we all learned a lot from the course. And we hope, should some emergency arise, we could be of some assistance," said Harry B. Bell, Commander.

Detroit area music fans will have an opportunity to hear the "Mathis Magic" Sunday, April 13, when he appears in concert at the Masonic Temple at 8 p.m.

Senior Club
Incorporated

BELLEVILLE—The Belleville Area Senior Citizens' Club is now fully incorporated as a non-profit organization.

Alton P. Shirley, local attorney, has implemented the necessary paperwork for the Club and they wish to thank him for his efforts.

Shirley is looking into the possibility of a state-wide incorporation of all the Senior Citizens Clubs in Michigan. This could be a very worthwhile project in giving these clubs identity as well as protection.

The Belleville Club is now looking into the possibilities of a Senior Citizen Center. A possible site might be the Wayne County Road Commissioner's Comfort Station at Five Points in Belleville-Victory Park.

The Day Center being run by the Belleville Club in the Belleville City Hall is growing and more facilities will be needed in the near future, Richard Coffelt, director, said.

With Bob and a core of other veterans back next season, Spartan coach Jerry Powloski is looking forward to next season.

Larry Tuhan's lone representative to this year's squad is Tom Graham who also is a holdover from last year's ANP team. Tom, a senior, is one of the top point getters on the Franklin team who specializes in the freestyle.

Belleville contributes a crop of outstanding freestylers and a diver as well as the Coach of the Year.

Twins - Brad and Barry Susterka - are only freshmen and have already made their mark in the area. They came away a gold medal and a silver from the Western Wayne Meet with Barry capturing the diving honors and Brad second in the 400 yard freestyle event.

Phil Barr and Chet Meyer also gained All-Area recognition last year.

Barr, who placed tenth in the state in the 50 yard freestyle with a 23.2 performance was a double winner in the WW. He took the 50 and the 100 yard events to lift the Tigers to their third championship in six years.

Barr also claimed gold medals in the Suburban Six Conference where he was the ruler of the 50 and 100 events. Meyer duplicated Barr's double victory in the WW when he touched in first for the 200 and 400 yard freestyle events and he also reached the State Finals, stroking a 1:56 for the 200 yard event.

A 16-year-old junior, Meyer has three years of varsity experience and his fourth should prove to be an interesting one.

Bob Coppock, the key to the Tigers' relay strength, makes up one leg of the 400 yard freestyle relay team. He's only a junior and has two varsity stripes in swimming.

Once you have the facts, you'll open a Security Time Savings Account!

Security Time Savings

SECURITY BANK & TRUST

MEMBER F.D.I.C.

QUESTION 1: Is there a difference in interest rates?
Answer: No, but there is a difference in the way interest is computed. Our interest rate on time savings accounts, like everyone else's, is 5%. However, ours is compounded continuously! This means that your money is working for you, every minute of every day.

QUESTION 2: How much money do I need to open a Security Time Savings Account?
Answer: Unlike some time savings plans, $1,000.00 is all it takes!

QUESTION 3: How much money must I deposit in order to add to my account?
Answer: You may deposit $50 or more in your account, at any time. This is the lowest minimum deposit requirement available in the area!

QUESTION 4: Do you offer a periodic statement?
Answer: We feel it's important for you to know what your money is doing. As a result, at the end of each calendar quarter, you'll receive a statement that shows transactions made and interest earned. At the end of the year, we'll send you a special statement, for tax purposes.

QUESTION 5: What about withdrawals?
Answer: You'll be able to withdraw savings that have been on deposit for a full calendar quarter, during the first 10 days of each succeeding quarter, without notice, or at any time with 90 days advance (the minimum legal requirement) written notice. You'll earn maximum interest until the day of withdrawal.

QUESTION 6: What can I do with interest earned?
Answer: We'll be happy to credit interest to your Security Time Savings Account, another account, or mail you a quarterly check. The choice is yours.

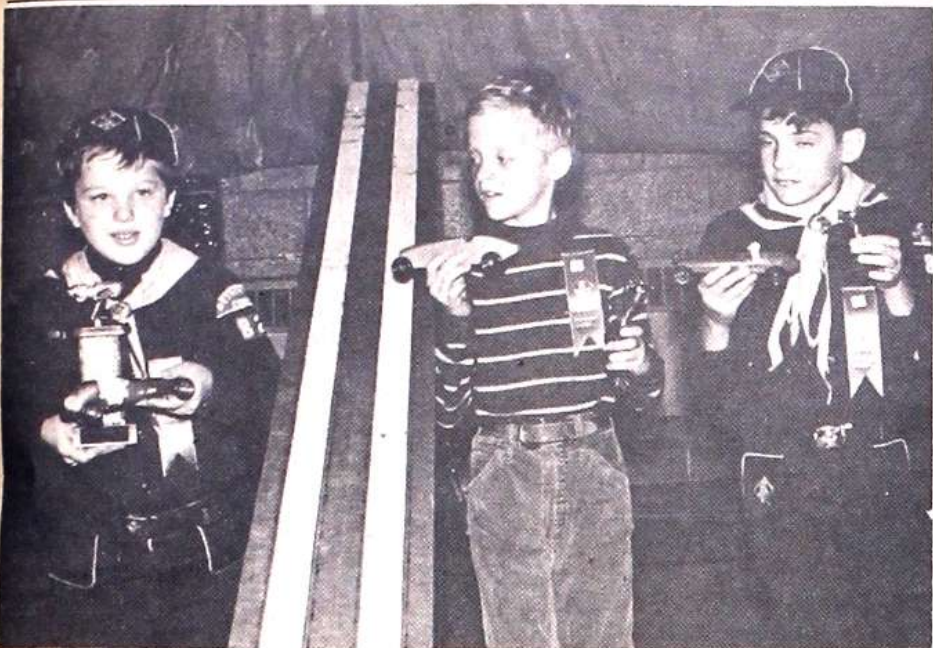

QUESTION 7: What about a passbook?
Answer: You will receive a handy passbook-type folder in which to keep all of your records.

There you have it... seven good reasons for opening a Security Time Savings Account. No bank pays more, but one does more!

When it comes to banking, Security is all you need!

Earn 5% annual interest, compounded continuously!

New Program is Initiated By Community Affairs Unit

By Nan M. Smith

NEW BOSTON—Following last fall's successful series on Race Relations, the Huron Sumpter Association for Community Affairs announces a new program now in the planning stage.

Comprised of three sessions, it will focus on problems facing today's youth.

We have again been fortunate in engaging very interesting and well qualified speakers.

On Wednesday, April 16 the opening date of the series, Dr. Willis Moore, Associate Professor with the Wayne State University School of Pharmacy will speak on drugs, their availability, effects and the extent to which they are used particularly in our own community.

Dr. Moore recently presented a similar program at Flatrock High School.

On Wednesday, April 23, Mrs. Christopher Rambeau, National Director of W.I.C.S. (Women in Community Service) and James Whiting, Field Program Specialist, Job Corps, State of Michigan will speak on the subjects of why students become dropouts and the opportunities available for them through the Job Corps.

On Wednesday, April 30, Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Thomas Foley will discuss the developing interest within our community: How we can work toward better opportunities for our families and especially our young people.

The meetings will take place at Huron Junior High School at 8 p.m. There is no admission charge. Every person interested in their child's welfare is invited to attend.

The Huron Township Association for Community Affairs has changed its name to Huron Sumpter Association for Community Affairs because of many good friends from Sumpter

Township who worked so hard on our previous program and are permanent members of the group.

Steering Committee members recently appointed are:

John Smith, temporary chairman; Jack Shropshire, Mrs. Loretta Glen, Jim Kuehnle, Mrs. Thelma Harrison and Frank Klaes.*

Chairman is Arnold J. Haener and Secretary Mrs. Patricia Klaes. Publicity chairman is Nan M. Smith at 753-9903.

Mahalak's Bill Aids Emotionally Disturbed

ROMULUS—State Representative Edward E. Mahalak (D) of Romulus, has introduced a House of Representatives Bill which sets a uniform payment scale for relatives of emotionally disturbed children in state institutions.

The Mahalak Bill amends an earlier act which established a uniform payment scale, based on annual income, for parents or other responsible relatives of mentally retarded persons admitted to public institutions.

The emotionally disturbed child was not included in the original law, approved by the Legislature in 1965.

"It is important," Mahalak said, "that emotionally disturbed children be added to the law. Their parents face payment problems for their care when in state institutions just as do the parents of mentally retarded children."

MONTHLY LIABILITY for responsible relatives of a retarded child range from zero dollars if the annual income is less than $5,000 to $210 a month if the annual income exceeds $20,000. If Mahalak's Bill is approved this uniform payment scale would be extended to include emotionally disturbed children in public care.

(The original Bill also did not include children at Caro State Hospital for Epileptics. This was corrected in 1966 when it was pointed out that a high per cent of the patients at Caro suffered from convulsive disorders.)

There was no uniform payment scale before the 1965 act. Parents went to probate court for both the legal commitment and to be assessed the cost of care.

The 1965 act stipulates that the responsible relative has a liability for payments for the care of the patient until the patient is 21 years old or until he has been in the institution for 15 years, whichever occurs first.

Students Observe Engineers in Action

HOUGHTON, Mich.—Twelve Detroit-area industries showed it like it is this week to 60 mechanical engineering majors at Michigan Technological University.

They were among 175 juniors who visited 36 companies in three states to get a first-hand look at what mechanical engineers do in industry. This was the largest group ever to participate in the inspection trips conducted annually between winter and spring quarters.

One group of 28 students visited The Detroit Edison

Co., Uniroyal, Inc., and Ford Manufacturing Development, all in Detroit; Ford Wixom Assembly, Wixom, GMC Truck and Coach, Pontiac; and Vickers Division-Sperry Rand, Troy. They were accompanied by Assistant Prof. Paul Hainault.

If you have the idea that electric heat is too rich for your blood, you'd be surprised at the number of average people who are putting it in their homes.

Their present homes. You'd find—just like they—a cleaner house than you've ever experienced. A quiet, even heat, completely worry-free. It's also more comfortable—never desert dry.

If you'd like a no-obligation estimate on installation and operating cost, call us for the name of an Edison Approved Electric Heat Contractor near you.

Don't wait for your next house to enjoy electric heat. You can afford it right now. Honest.

DREAM HOME YOUR HOUSE WITH ELECTRIC HEAT.

"This big old farmhouse of ours has electric heat," said Albert Foege of Plymouth. "We heat both floors—nine big rooms—and the cost is cheap. Runs us only a little over $300 a year."

Catholic Pre-school Group Opens Office in Allen Park

The National Catholic Preschool Association announces the opening of its new office in the Detroit suburb of Allen Park.

A volunteer lay organization, the National Association, together with its local affiliates throughout the country, offers guidance and assistance in establishing Catholic Sunday Schools for preschool children.

Such Sunday schools are organized, financed, directed and staffed by the parents themselves, not by professional teachers. Thus, parents are able to meet their responsibilities for the religious education of their young children through the use of a carefully planned program appropriate to the understanding and maturity of preschoolers.

Begun thirteen years ago as a parish undertaking, the idea of an organized program for preschool religious instruction rapidly spread throughout the Detroit Archdiocese.

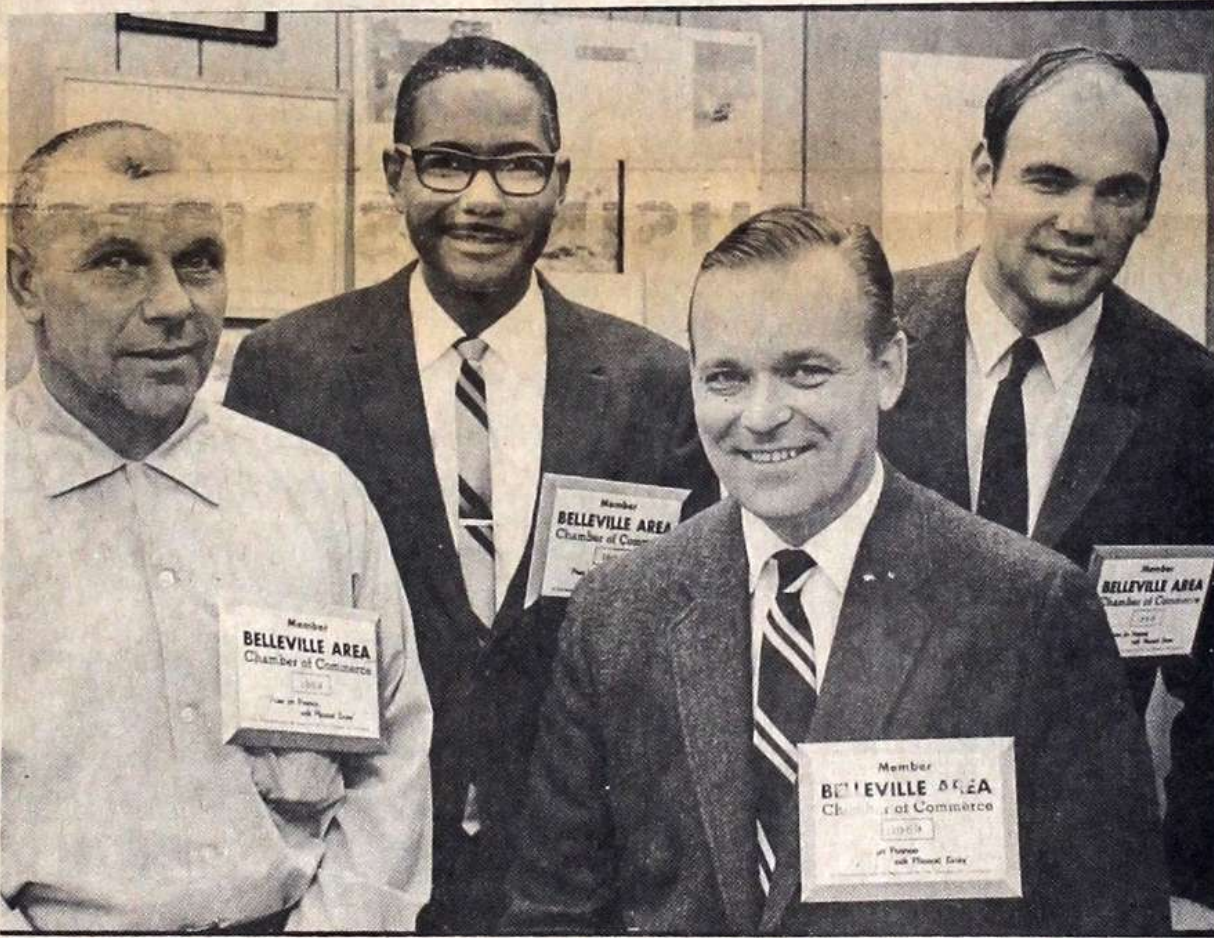

WHEN THE program caught the interest of priests, sisters and laymen beyond the local area, requests for information and assistance become more than a handful of volunteer laymen could handle.

The National Catholic Preschool Association was then formed, and subsequently chartered by the State of Michigan as a non-profit educational organization. It has members throughout the United States, Canada and several foreign countries.

The National Catholic Preschool Association is basically a service organization. Its annual workshop on preschool religious instruction has become an invaluable source of information and inspiration for the participants who come from all over the country.

Further information about the Association's activities may be obtained by writing to the National Catholic Preschool Association, P.O. Box 310, Allen Park, Michigan 48101.

Michigan Week Head

BELLEVILLE—Van Buren Township's observance of Michigan Week (May 17-24) will be under the chairmanship of Mrs. Paul York.

Her appointment was announced jointly by Edward C. Steelton, township supervisor; and Mrs. Erma Jean Payne, township clerk. Mrs. York is Deputy Township Treasurer.

Although the township does not exchange its chief executive with another community, it does program an elaborate Student Day activities at the Township Hall which this year will include participating in the 34th District Court operations.

School Principals End 'Leadership Workshop'

WAYNE—Nearly 60 Wayne County elementary school principals have completed a 12-week workshop in "Leadership Effectiveness" sponsored by the ASSIST (Activities to Stimulate and Support Innovation in Schools Today) Center.

The workshop was designed and conducted by ASSIST's Staff Development component. It was based on the premise that elementary school principals are "keys" to the organizational climate within a school and the staff's receptivity to educational change.

Pre and post workshop surveys of the organizational climate of each building were conducted. The surveys provided for the administrators a special knowledge of similarities and differences in the school as perceived from principal and teacher points of view.

THE WORKSHOP attracted both public and non-public school principals whose schools provided location for each of the various half day weekly meetings. ASSIST staff members Walter Schumacher, Joseph Sommerville and Robert Stafford composed the workshop staff.

A highlight of the workshop was that it provided a positive and supportive climate for problem sharing and problem solving. Coaching relationships were established and participants were encouraged to attempt to identify and clarify problems they have in their daily work.

Following these steps the principals explored alternatives for solving their problems; they then set goals and publicly stated these goals. Next steps were to determine and implement a specific plan of action directed toward attainment of their goals. A final step of the process will be to evaluate the effectiveness of the action taken.

The 57 principals who completed the course were presented certificates by Wayne County Intermediate School District Superintendent William A. Shunck.

VAN BUREN TOWNSHIP BOARD MINUTES OF SPECIAL MEETING 3-17-69

Board members present were: Supervisor Stoelton, Maton, Domcik, Hink, Hogan; also present were Attorney Hopson, Morris Levine. Absent were Payne and Birk.

Supervisor Stoelton called the meeting to order immediately following a special meeting with Detroit Edison representatives. He asked the township officials for their opinion on the proposed installation of a line across Belleville Lake by Detroit Edison. Mr. Stoelton intended to call Detroit Edison the following day.

It was agreed that pilots utilize the lake frequently for practice, flight examinations, etc. and they are constantly looking for water traffic, i.e. boats, swimmers, skiers more often than wires.

Mr. Hopson stated that there is no law whereby they must have a franchise. He could not give an opinion on what the township should do, since they are going to cross their own lake with their own line. A franchise would have no bearing on this problem.

Hopson suggested we obtain from an electrical engineer figures on what it would cost to put the line under water. If the engineers figures agree to the Detroit Edison figures, then we may be able to solve the problem. Detroit Edison may not accept another electrical engineer's figures since the best engineers are employed by Edison.

Mr. Stoelton stated that the lake is 90' feet deep near the proposed crossing area which may prove to be a pressure barrier on the dam.

Mr. Levine asked about going around the lake. It was confirmed that no problem exists between the two airports. He estimated that the rerouting would be much less than Edison's quoted price of $2½ million. The cost to put a conduit or container under water would not cost that much.

A motion made by Hink, supported by Domcik, that if Detroit Edison goes over the lake, they must make provisions for going either under or around within six months. The overhead line must be plainly marked. A roll call vote followed. Hink-yes, Hogan-yes, Domcik-yes, Stoelton-yes, Maton abstained, carrying the motion unanimously.
